State Begins Audit of Clear Fork Financing

Auditor Requests Check-up

Kelley Charges 'Irregularities'

In response to an unprecedented request by City Auditor Paul L. Kelley, an engineer-examiner from the state auditor's office arrived in Mansfield today to audit contracts, records and accounts pertaining to the Clear Fork works project.

Examiner H. W. Wendelken was sent here after Kelley wrote State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, requesting that such an audit be made because he (Kelley) "felt something irregular was going on."

"I called in the state examiner," Kelley said today, "because of legal and financial complications in the Clear Fork project and to protect the city against the possible double payment of certain bills."

"The fact that attested accounts were filed against Roger Au, principal contractor on the $424,000 dam and $216,000 pipeline, by the Daumit Construction company, a subcontractor, and I was not informed of the fact, led me to believe that something irregular was going on," Kelley said.

NOT INFORMED

He charged that attested accounts were filed against Au and copies were sent by registered mail to former Service-safety Director E. L. Morgan, but that neither Morgan nor Mayor Roy W. Vaughn notified him of the fact.

Morgan continued to approve subsequent estimates (bills) and Kelley paid them as they fell due because he was unaware that the attested accounts had been filed, the auditor said.

The statute that gives a subcontractor the right to file an attested account or a lien when he alleges that money is due him from the principal contractor states: "Upon receiving the notice required (a registered letter) . . . such public authority (the city in this case) . . . shall detain in its hands all subsequent payments from the principal contractor (Au) to secure such claims (Daumit's) . . ."

If this law is not upheld, the city lays itself open to double payment, and could be forced to pay Daumit money it already paid Au for repayment to Daumit.

In his letter to the state auditor, Kelley wrote, in part:

"There is a first time for everything. So, for the first time in 25 years as city auditor, I am requesting the services of an examiner, preferably an engineering examiner."

Then followed a brief description of the Clear Fork project.

"We have a contractor (Au) on the impounding reservoir and the 24-inch pipe line.

"He (Au) subcontracted work on the impounding reservoir. The subcontractor (Daumit) filed attested accounts (at least once) with out former service director (Morgan) who continued to approve estimates and I paid same, having no knowledge of such attested account or accounts.

"Same sub-contractor recently scattered new attested accounts on several of us, then a lien. Common Pleas court judge ordered me to pay three recent estimates on contractor's (Au's) suit for a temporary restraining order on subcontractor's (Daumit's) lien, conditioned upon contractor furnishing like amount of payment."

Protests Bus Route Changes

The first official protest against the proposed bus route changes were heard by city council last night when a Brickman avenue resident argued against the suggested change in the Park avenue west route.

At present, that route runs from Fourth and Main streets to Park avenue west, then west to approximately one-half a mile outside the city limits.

Under the proposed change, the bus will travel out Park avenue west to Glenwood boulevard, then south to Maple street, west to South Linden road, north to Park avenue west and east back to Fourth and Main streets, giving additional service to the Maple Lake area.

The change would cut out the portion of the present route between Linden road and the B. and O. overpass. The bus company has asked council and the service-safety director to approve three changes in bus routes designed to "reduce passenger riding time, allow more riders to reach their destinations without transferring, and to relieve downtown congestion."

ASKS DELAY

W. G. O'Brien, 45 Brickman avenue, asked council to delay action on granting Mansfield Rapid Transit, Inc., the right to change the routes until a careful study is made.

One of the reasons given by the bus company for making the Park avenue west changes was to improve service to the Maple Lake park area. O'Brien said that service should be added without curbing the present service west on Park avenue west outside the city limits.

By terms of the franchise council does not have to approve the changes. The service-safety director is granted that power, but the bus company asked that both council and the director approve the changes.

The other changes requested were the creation of a Reformatory - South Main run, as a combination of the two routes bearing those names.

The third change calls for the creation of a North Main-Glessner run, which would go no further west than Marion avenue.

Council referred the bus company's requests to committees and the director.

Fire Sweeps Warren Car

EN ROUTE WITH WARREN TO CHICAGO — (AP) — Flames sweeping the rear truck of Gov. Earl Warren's private car early today routed the governor and his family from bed and halted the vice presidential special.

The blaze had its origin in a journal box, and a train staff member said it had seriously damaged the axle.

A trainman spotted the flames as the Republican vice presidential special was speeding toward Cincinnati about 6:20 a. m. east of Maysville, Ky.

Damage to the car, the "Aleutian," caused trainmen to uncouple it.

It was left on the Chesapeake and Ohio tracks about 10 miles east of Maysville to be hauled into Cincinnati for repairs.

At Cincinnati, where the train was 2½ hours behind schedule, another car was coupled to the rear of the train.

Mrs. Warren was able to gather up only enough clothing to meet her family's needs at Chicago tonight.

All other possessions had to be left behind in the car, which is to be hauled to Chicago after rush repairs in Cincinnati in time to rejoin the train before it pulls out of Chicago tomorrow night.

BUFFALO, N. Y. — (INS) — Erie county police today held a Buffalo dentist for questioning after he identified the skull of a dismembered woman's body as that of his missing wife.

Dr. Howard O. Lindeman, who two weeks ago offered a $1,000 reward for information leading to the whereabout of his wife, is being held without charge.

Beef Drops, Bacon Firm

Survey Shows Price Changes

(By United Press)

The average price of round steak, pork chops and T-bone steak has dropped more than six cents a pound during the last two weeks, but the price of bacon has remained steady, a United Press survey showed today.

The survey compared prices charged for the four meats two weeks ago and today in butcher shops in 15 cities across the nation.

Pork chops took the greatest price slash, an average of seven cents a pound. Kansas City recorded a reduction of 17 cents a pound, from 96 to 79 cents.

Round steak prices declined an average of six cents a pound, the survey showed. New York City, with a 23-cent drop, and Boston, with a decrease of 20 cents, were the leaders in the price declines.

T-bone steak, most expensive of the four meats in the survey, also averaged a six cent drop. Philadelphia had the greatest reduction, 13 cents a pound.

The results:

Type of meat per pound per pound

	2 wks. ago	today
Bacon	$ .78	$ .78
Pork Chops	.90	.83
Round Steak	.97	.91
T-bone steak	1.03	.97

In Cleveland, a large food chain said that the prices of quality beef, pork and lamb would be slashed up to 10 cents a pound today.

Another Cleveland chain said its prices also would be reduced.

Polio Victim Dies

TOLEDO — (INS) — Mary Lou Williams, 12, of Portage, died today of polio in the contagion unit of Toledo's Maumee Valley hospital. She was the 21st polio victim in the Toledo area this year and sixth from Wood county during the present crisis.

Battle Is On! Play Ball!

1948 Series Richest In Baseball History

By LAWTON CARVER

BOSTON—(INS)—The richest world series in history has begun to run its course after the most tumultuous baseball season of recent times.

The players on the winning side each will get more than $7,500 for their cut of the big melon, and the losers slightly less, thanks to the capacity of Cleveland stadium—close to 80,000.

Nobody seems to give the Braves even an outside chance against the Indians, and perhaps that is the way it should be. I personally like the Indians. Pitching. Power. Fielding. Reserves.

The Indians have a lot of what the Braves need so badly. The Boston club, and its hopped-up supporters, go on and on about Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn, the two key pitchers.

They must stop there. Vern Bickford may win, too, but even with good pitching the Braves seem to lack that old sockeroo, such as the Indians, in American league style, can pour on.

Not the least of the sluggers —considering Monday's pennant-clinching game—is Manager Lou Boudreau. The Braves lost their power when Jeff Heath, a big, shaggy-haired fellow, broke his leg in Brooklyn.

INDIAN CLUB INTACT

The Indians have Bob Feller, Bob Lemon and Gene Bearden, as everybody knows and they have a club completely intact. In contrast the Braves' dressing room looks like a hospital ward and most of the talk is along the same line.

The one thing you can give the Braves is their unflagging courage.

As to this, Manager Billy Southworth said today:

"We are not underestimating the Indians. We know they are tough as they had to be to win their pennant. But the best we concede them is a fighting chance."

Boston seems to be behind the Braves with greater sentiment than they ever showed in behalf of the Red Sox and this is going to play a part in spurring the Braves on. They figure to be tough — but how can they win?

If they lose, no one will be surprised. If they win, everybody will be happy for these guys are for Southworth.

The Braves are a likeable ball club—the kind Southworth always puts together. They are gentlemanly — off the field or in the dressing room — nice guys and eager to please.

3 Deny Guilt In Meat Case

LANCASTER — (INS) — Three Lancaster men had pleaded innocent today to charges of receiving meat stolen from the Swift and Company plant in Columbus.

Twenty-one others indicted by the Fairfield county grand jury had arraignments set for a later date. Three warrants still remained to be served, but Lancaster officials refused to say whether the indictments concerned meat or gambling charges.

Those who entered "not guilty" pleas late yesterday were Dale Landis, 20, of Baltimore, operator of a restaurant in a Lancaster plant; Former manager Robert Radebaugh of the Lancaster Spot Lunch, and M. H. Nihizer, grocery store manager.

Hurricane Cuts Path In Florida

Loss Estimated At $12,000,000

MIAMI, Fla. — (INS) — Flood waters from a tropical hurricane that battered a destructive path across Cuba and South Florida forced hundreds of persons from their homes in the Miami area today.

One death was indirectly attributed to the storm in Miami and at least 12 persons were killed in Cuba by the Caribbean hurricane. There were numerous injuries.

The storm raged out over the Atlantic, about 140 miles northeast of Palm Beach, after cutting a 12-million-dollar swath of damage across Cuba and the southeast tip of the Florida peninsula.

Red Cross workers evacuated nearly 200 persons from flooded homes in outlying areas around Miami. Disaster officials said that "the situation looks a lot better and waters are not rising much any more."

The hurricane roared out to sea late last night near Pompano, Fla., 40 miles north of Miami, after hammering Cuba with 132-mile-an-hour winds, blowing 120-mile-an-hour gusts in Key West and raking Miami with 90-mile blasts.

The exact center of the hurricane had passed over Miami at 7 p. m.

Aside from the floods, damage in Miami was surprisingly light.

One man died of a heart attack during the height of the storm. He was John Gilmore, 42.

RAINFALL HEAVY

Ten inches of rain inundated southeastern Florida as the storm swept out to sea. Flood waters rose rapidly in the Miami suburbs of Hialeah, Sweetwater, Flagami, and Miami Springs.

Amphibious ducks were ordered into the area to evacuate refugees.

The storm was the second to strike Florida in two weeks. The earlier blow lashed Key West and whipped through south central Florida. Four persons were killed and 25 million dollars' damage caused.

Truman On New Tour

Calls Marshall Back From Paris

(By Associated Press)

President Truman left today on a four-state eastern campaign swing. He plans to return Saturday to get a report on the United Nations affairs from Secretary of State Marshall.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey had John Foster Dulles, his foreign affairs adviser, in for a lengthy discussion in Albany yesterday on the "current international situation."

Dulles, who is reported ticketed for the top state department spot if the Republicans win in November, was to return today to Paris where he is a U. S. delegate to the United Nations meeting.

The White House announced Mr. Truman's decision to summon Marshall home from Paris without disclosing the specific topics he wishes to discuss.

The President will take to the air tonight to discuss one of the topics that has figured largely in the U. N. debate—atomic energy. His talk will be broadcast from Philadelphia where he is scheduled to spend most of the day.

Fiery Trap Holds Men In Forest

WINNIPEG —(INS)— Forest Rangers and Royal Canadian mounted police battled their way through blazing bushland today to a group of forest fire fighters trapped inside a fiery circle.

The men found themselves encircled by shooting walls of flame after fighting forest fires near Fisherton, 100 miles northwest of Winnipeg.

They were attempting to build a firebreak to check spreading flames when three fires converged. The men were trapped between a firebreak with their way of escape cut off.

Charges Fly At Galion Labor Trial

60 Witnesses May Testify

(By a State Correspondent)

GALION — A North Electric company official denied today at the NLRB hearing that a former plant supervisor, Arthur Sherer, went to a United Auto Workers union meeting for the company.

The union rested its case at 9:15 a. m. with the exception of one union witness Edward J. Duck, international representative, who has been unable to get here for the hearing. Four company witnesses then took the stand this morning.

The hearing is an outgrowth of a 72-day strike, marked by violence and vandalism last year.

Lloyd Bender, a North company vice president, said he did not ask Sherer to go to a union meeting and added that no other official had.

Robert J. Eise, production supervisor, said he never gave permission to Sherer to leave early to go to a union meeting.

Carl Harringer, a plant supervisor, denied he ever told Mary Ann Berger that the UWA union was a "bunch of scum."

Wayne E. Harlocker, also a plant supervisor, said he didn't recall, as charged by Miss Berger, that he said the plant would shut down if the CIO got in the plant.

Herbert W. Arnold, a former relay adjuster in the assembly room at the North plant, who was president of the UAW (CIO) during the strike and until he left the North Company in the early spring, this year, was the last witness Tuesday and continued to testify first this morning.

His testimony was highlighted, when he told of a conversation with Harry S. Haney, a representative of the Labor Relations Institute of New York City, whom Arnold believed to be retained by the North Company.

Arnold testified that Haney suggested that Arnold join the Independent Workers Union, because that union needed a good leader

Fire Symbol Heads Parade Saturday

Mansfield's Fire Prevention week parade Saturday night will be headed by a "Fifth Horseman of the Apocalypse," representing the destructiveness of fire.

The "horseman" will be Caroline McGinty, a Johnny Appleseed junior high pupil, who will ride a white horse. Miss McGinty will wear a skeleton costume and a flaming red robe.

The parade at 7:30 p. m., Saturday through the downtown area will feature floats and novelties. A truck will haul the 13 "fire demons" who are appearing on the streets this week wearing bright red ties.

Today's "demon", Councilman George C. Kyle, was identified at 9:30 a. m., by E. R. Friday, Mansfield, R. D. 6, as Kyle got out of his car at the city building. Friday, like other winners, got a fire extinguisher.

The "fire demon" contest will continue through the week. Thirteen men wear the red ties every day, but only one is designated as the "demon of the day."

MANAGERS WILL MEET

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The fifth annual conference of sales managers of Ohio industries sponsored by the Ohio State university will be held here Oct. 14.

Debate Delayed By U. N.

Seeks Lifting Of Blockade

PARIS—(U.P.)—The United Nations security council gave Russia another chance today to accept American, British and French proposals for ending the Berlin crisis.

The council heard representatives of the western powers open their case against the Soviet Union by charging it with "acts of aggression" in Berlin, vowing that they would never surrender their hold on the western sectors of the German capital, and then offering an immediate big four foreign ministers conference on German problems in return for lifting of the "illegal" Soviet blockade.

Promptly then the council, in which Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky sat silent, agreed to a suggestion by Chairman Juan Bramuglia of Argentina that an "intermediary waiting period" be taken in the case.

Bramuglia did not specify the length of the recess in the proceedings which amounted to a trial of Russia's Berlin actions before the jury of world opinion. It was designed, however, to allow the Soviet Union another opportunity to accept the western offer.

It was assumed that the Berlin case in which the western powers charge Russia with U.N. charter violations and with being a threat to the peace would not be taken up again before sometime next week. Bramuglia said only that the next meeting on this issue would be called at an appropriate time.

NATIONS PRESS CASE

The decision to recess came after American, British and French delegates in turn had pressed their case against Russia in terms which implied determination of their countries to use force if necessary to maintain their hold in Berlin.

Vishinsky, who announced yesterday that Russia would boycott security council debate of the Berlin dispute, attended both morning and afternoon sessions. It appeared that Soviet tactics were to listen and wait until a resolution is submitted, then to cast a killing veto.

The morning session was consumed by a calm, dispassionate 80-minute speech by Dr. Philip Jessup, the U.S. delegate who opened the trial of Soviet Union tactics in Berlin before world opinion.

He indicted Russia on the charge of committing an "act of aggression" and using "hostile and threatening measures" in imposing a "unlawful" road, rail and canal blockade of Berlin.

In the afternoon session, with Vishinsky again in his seat and again alternately reading newspapers and taking notes as he had in the morning, Britain's polished old-time diplomat Sir Alexander Cadogan endorsed fully the American stand, made the same offer of a big four conference if the blockade is lifted, and added the direct charge that the Russians entered the recent direct negotiations without good faith.

Alexandre Parodi of France spoke after Cadogan, couching his charges against Russia and his promise of a four-power conference if the blockade is lifted in similar terms.

Soviet Pilots Buzz Planes

SHANGHAI —(INS)— For the second time in two days, P-39 fighters with Soviet markings buzzed an American-piloted Chinese commercial plane today.

The incident was disclosed by the Shanghai headquarters of the China Air Transport company which is headed by Gen. Claire Chennault, wartime chief of the famed "Flying Tigers."

The announcement stated a C-46 transport flown by an American pilot was buzzed by three or four Soviet P-39's for about 15 or 20 minues at a point 20 miles west of Port Arthur.

'Jane Doe' Identified as Former Actress

Nude Body Tells Piteous 'Riches to Rags' Story

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—The piteous, familiar story of the glamorous actress who danced gaily through the flowertime of life—only to die destitute in a cheap hotel room—was re-told today with the identification in the morgue of "Jane Doe, No. 37."

The Los Angeles Examiner said that a woman whose nude body was found in a Hollywood hotel room early Monday was identified as Gladye Gale Lamphere, onetime Broadway actress and the former wife of Park Benjamin, Manhattan millionaire.

A welfare agency case worker, to whom Mrs. Benjamin had come for aid, identified the body after it had lain in the morgue as "Jane Doe, No. 37" for nearly two days.

The setting for the former Broadway flower's last moments of life was bizarre and ugly. Hotel employes said she had shared the fourth-floor room with a man for several hours. A bellboy who noticed the door ajar found the body.

Obscenities were scrawled on the walls of the room. The upholstery and plaster had been ripped with a knife. The man, listed on the register as J. Statler, San Francisco, had vanished.

There were no indications the woman had meet death through violence. There were no marks on her body to indicate the cause of death, and a chemical analysis was ordered.

The dead woman, as Mrs. Benjamin, was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Enrico Caruso, widow of the famed opera tenor. In 1927 she shocked staid Manhattan society by becoming a nightclub hostess. As such she sang in the Blue room of the Beaux Arts building, a plush prohibition era speakeasy.

Later she sang at the old Hippodrome and appeared in such musical productions as "Lassie" and "Sweetheart Time." Then she came to Hollywood and appeared as a singer in Mae West's "Klondike Fannie." But then she drifted into obscurity, obtaining a divorce from Benjamin in 1940.

Benjamin is now remarried to his first wife, Catherine Doremus, member of a Wall street banking family.

Jap City Dwellers To Eat More

But Farmers Face Economic Crisis

By FRANK L. WHITE

TOKYO — (AP) — Prospects for a bumper cereal crop this fall practically guarantee improved eating for Japanese city dwellers, but farmers face an economic crisis which may have strong political effects.

Japanese business men, intent on trade, and politicians [illegible] big city votes, apparently are devoting little thought to the farmer's plight. Opinion seems divided among occupation authorities on the future of the farmer.

These sections concerned with foreign trade seem to feel that the farmer is better off than the city resident, while those dealing with agriculture foresee increasing distress in the countryside.

The communist party, always quick to dabble in troubled waters, is increasing its propaganda aimed at the farmer.

Japanese writers on rural problems agree that the farmer had two years of comparative prosperity but now is being pinched between low fixed prices and rigid collection of his produce and the high cost of things he must buy.

New tax assessments also have hit the farmer. Some quarters say they were set high on the theory that growers made a lot of money on the black market.

Japanese experts say, however, that bank withdrawals this year indicate the farmer already has had to use up whatever he once made from that source. They say loans will be needed to plant next year's crops, but government circles thus far are not considering such financing. Private loans in Japan are notorious for their high rates.

The farm situation is further sharpened by the fact that more than half of all Japanese are rural residents — the greatest number in Japan's history. Formerly industry drained off surplus farm population. Since the war many who once lived in cities or abroad have had to return to the country.

This surplus, discontented farm population is the target of increasing communist propaganda.

The Japanese farmer is one of the most conservative in the world, usually little interested in politics.

Genuine distress in farming areas, however, could provide fertile ground for communist agitation which could affect both politics and industrial recovery.

Children Offered 12-Week Courses

Arts Guild Classes Open Saturday

The Mansfield Fine Arts Guild has announced the opening of its winter season of art lessons for Mansfield school children from the ages of eight to 16 years. Classes will start next Saturday.

The Guild has obtained the use of the second floor of the Memorial building for Saturday morning classes. It is the same location used in the latter half of last spring's course.

The classes will be sponsored by the Guild in cooperation with the Mansfield City Recreation department and will be supervised by Mrs. Denzil Schaaf, Mansfield artist, it was announced by Thomas Zaugg, president of the Guild.

Classes will be taught each Saturday morning from 9 to 11 a. m. Each course will last approximately 12 weeks. The first quarter starts next Saturday and will continue until January. The second will start in January and conclude some time in March. The third quarter starts April 1 and ends with the close of school.

Because of the increased cost of artist's paints and equipment, a charge of $2 per quarter will be made for this winter's lessons, Zaugg said today.

"Enrollment in the course and payment of the required fee entitles a child to junior membership in the Guild," Zaugg explained.

Lessons this year will be divided into several different parts so that each child will have a variety of training phases. The first lesson will be registration, arrangement of classes and the drawing of imaginery objects.

For the second lesson, visual objects will be drawn and during the third lesson the children will do nature studies with fall colors. Still life will be drawn in the fourth lesson and for the next three, black and white compositions will be done. For another three classes of the quarter, water colors will be painted and for the final lessons, the children may choose their choice of subject matter.

In addition to Mrs. Schaaf, there will be at least a dozen Mansfield artists who will devote their time, taking turns at Saturday morning instruction.

THIEVES IMPROVISE

Flying Discs Just Won't Go Away

DAYTON — (AP) — The flying disc business shows no signs of fading out.

People still are "seeing things in the air" in all sections of the country, and whether its a case of jitters in an atomic age or illusions of aerial "phenomena" is something Wright-Patterson field officers would like to know.

Today, Col. C. H. Welch, public relations officer of the air material command, said he wanted the public to know the Army is investigating such reports, regardless of the place or type of occurrence. "That way," he said, "the public can be assured there's nothing going on we don't know about."

TAKES OWN LIFE

NEWARK — (AP) — John Welsh, 32, shot and killed himself after quitting his job in Sandusky, returning to his home here, and enlisting in the Army, Coroner James H. Pollock reported. A suicide verdict was given.

Feller Opposes Sain In Series Opener

IT'S A NATIONAL league year . . . That's what the record book says . . . For the past nine seasons, the two leagues have alternated in winning the series . . . But it should be different this trip. . . . The Cleveland variety of Redskin seems to have it over the Bostons in every respect. . . . The pitching, hitting and fielding is better—what else is there. . . . Billy Southworth, the Brave boss, may have to use his mound aces—Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn—in six games if the series goes the limit. . . . Only Vern Bickford can be classed as a third available starter for Boston. . . . Manager Lou Boudreau has Bobby Feller, Gene Bearden and Bob Lemon, though the latter has been something less than sensational of late. . . . Back of them comes Steve Gromek (9-3), Sam Zoldak (11-10), Satch Paige (6-1), Russ Christopher (3-2), Ed Klieman (3-2) and Bob Muncrief (5-4). . . . It all adds up to a lot of mound talent. . . . Boston's outfield took a beating when powerboy Jeff Heath broke his leg last week. . . . However, Tommy Holmes (.325) is the top Braves' outfield hitter in the series. . . . Tommy is no shakes as a fielder but then neither is Allie Clark (.310) or Dale Mitchell (.335) the Indians' two top hitting gardeners. . . . Larry Doby (.301) is probably the best all-around outfielder on either team. . . . Boston is possibly stronger behind the dish with Phil Masi and Bill Salkeld. . . . Of course, Boudreau and Joe Gordon are the best keystone combination in the business. . . . The teams are even at first and third. . . . Neither has a first-sacker while Bob Elliott, Braves, and Ken Keltner are pretty close to the best at their [illegible]. . . . Gordon and Keltner hit the longest balls on both teams.

★

ONE THING is sure. . . . A new series fan record will go in the books. . . . The previous mark of 71,065 was set in the New York-Brooklyn meeting in Yankee stadium last year. . . . The Cleveland Sunday crowd may go as high as 90,000. . . . Looking back over the season, the Red Sox really were the toughest team at the end but the Indians were too consistent. . . . They didn't get to the .500 mark until June and first went into the lead with a 13-game July winning streak. . . . The American league has a 27-to-17 edge in series victories. . . . Must be because the Yankees have been in 15 since 1921.

★

GUESSING SEEMS to be one of our minor accomplishments. . . . So the rotund Stuffer consults his forecasting stogie and comes up with Cleveland in six games. . . . Here's what some of the other writers think:

Indians Big Favorite In Annual Show

By LEO H. PETERSEN
(UP Sports Editor)

BOSTON—Two of baseball's greatest pitchers, an Arkansas hillbilly and an Iowa farmer, carried the championship hopes of the Boston Braves and the Cleveland Indians into the first game of the 1948 world series today.

For the Braves, it was Johnny Sain, who has come a long way on baseball's path to glory since he left Pine Bluff to make his mark as a pitcher. For the Indians, it was rapid Bobby Feller, finally getting a shot in the blue ribbon classic of American sports.

The Indians were favored to take the first game, starting at 1:00 p. m. (EST) under skies which were expected to be cloudy, at odds of 9 to 5. The American league champions, who did not win their way into the series until a day after the regular season closed, were 13 to 5 shots to take the best four out of seven series.

LEAD WITH BEST

Both Manager Billy Southworth of the Braves and Skipped Lou Boudreau of the Indians decided to lead with their best bets.

Southworth had announced Monday as the Indians were beating the Red Sox 8 to 3, in the American league playoff that Sain would be his man. Boudreau, who with rookie Pitcher Gene Bearden, was the hero of the Indians playoff victory, did not confirm until yesterday that Feller would be his starter—although there had been a little doubt about it.

There was cheering news for the underdog Braves as they went into their first series since 1914 as Southworth announced that peppery Ed Stanky, a big guy when the chips are down, would start at second base. Stanky was lost to the team on July 8 when he fractured his ankle in a game against the Dodgers at Brooklyn and is in the series on a pass.

He was taken off the active list for 60 days and it required the special permission of Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler and the American league to make him eligible for the series. Under normal circumstances, he would not have been allowed to play, for he still was on the inactive list 30 days before the series opened—the deadline for players to be with a club in order to participate in sports' biggest event.

COCKY BRAVES

The Braves were cocky and confident. So were the Indians, despite reports that there had been a rebellion among some of the players over what they reportedly felt was the preferred treatment which Boudreau has been according Feller.

If there had been any dissension in the Cleveland ranks it clearly had been dissipated. For there wasn't a growl among them when Boudreau disclosed that Feller would be his opening day mound nominee.

Feller, who failed the Indians Sunday when he was beaten by the Detroit Tigers in a game which would have given the Indians the pennant without a playoff, said he was "ready to go."

STARTING TOSSERS—Here's the two young men ticketed to pitch the opening game of the 1948 all-redskin World series. Bobby Feller (left) will toe the rubber for the Cleveland Indians while Johnny Sain will toss them up for the Boston Braves. Feller won 19 and lost 15 while Sain copped 24 and dropped 15.

Keglers Can't Reach 600; Lou Tridico's 596 Is High

Mansfield maple blasters had a tough way to go again last night. Some 390 bowlers on 78 teams failed to dent the honor roll and only a few of the pinsmiths came close. A comparatively poor third kept Lou Tridico away from the 600 mark at the Colony. Rolling in the Westinghouse "C" league, Lou put together games of 199, 213, and 184 for a 596 series.

Second place in the loop went to I. Snyder with 215-179-163—557 and Ivan Foust had 198-151-189—538. E. Huck had a single game of 213.

Top honors in the Richland "C" league went to A. White, Culp Jewelers, with a neat 151-218-213-582. Henry Carmel was second with 151-196-198—545, while O. Squire had 162-195-176—533.

Culp, Mansfield Rug and Linoleum and Schonauer each swept three games. Culp's 2,450 was high among the teams.

★

Tony Gerger of Geiger Distributing was the high man in the Colony Transportation loop with 203-202-172—577. Jack Miner, Dominion, with 523 and Robert Forsythe, Mansfield Upholsterers, with 509 were next in line.

Forsythe had a single game of 224.

Schmid Tire, National Life and Dominion Electric are knotted for the Transportation lead. Dominion won two of three from Schmid, while National Life won by an identical score over Martin Steel. National Life had a team score of 2,603.

★

The Elks league individuals were bunched with Lou Piller ahead. He had 181-191-201—573 followed by Wayne Anthony's 162-200-202—564. In third spot was Leo Yuncker with 198-230-124—552, while Gene Funston had a 545, Paul Herlihy, 548; Lee Bechtel, 545, and Bill Daugherty, 539.

Single game honors went to Harold Stauffer with a 232.

Hides had the top team count of 2,694.

★

Laurels in the 24-team Mansfield Tire circuit went to Dick Metcalf with 170-189-213—572. Jess Willard held second with 203-204-163—570 and Jim Dunn came up with 192-190-169—551. Joe Siwek had 544 and Mac Southward, 535.

Siwek had a 214 and Charles Bauer, 211.

★

In the Westinghouse girls league Jean White was high with 126-178-136—440. Grace Chronister had 126-166-124—416.

Madison Ram Reserves Play John Simpson

The Madison high school reserves and John Simpson junior high gridders will clash in their annual game at 8 tonight at Arlin field.

It will be the first game of the season for the Madison club while Simpson has broken even in two starts. Simpson dropped the opener 14-0 at Alliance but came back last week to give Norwalk St. Paul's a terrific 38-0 beating.

Simpson is playing without the services of its top passer and runner, Benny Carbetta, who has been out since the Alliance game with a fractured right leg.

Dowler's Rams, apparently glutions for punishment, will play their second game in less than 24 hours tomorrow when they are host to Shelby reserves at Ram field. That game is listed for 4 p. m.

Madison's unusually large reserve squad allows for the close scheduling of games.

Johnny Appleseed seeks its fifth straight win at Mt. Vernon tomorrow afternoon. Appleseed holds a 19-0 win over the Mt. Vernon reserves.

St. Paul 9 Takes Lead In Playoff

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(UP)—Pat McGlothin pitched the St. Paul Saints to a 4 to 0 victory over the Montreal Royals last night in the first game of baseball's Little World series.

McGlothin struck out eight batters and allowed only five hits. His teammates got seven safeties, bunching three of them in the seventh inning for all of their runs.

Piles Are Never "Mild"
DANGER IN NEGLECT
No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.
Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.
Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.
Removal of piles is the only permanent relief—written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Jones Delivers Win To Browns, 14 to 10

BALTIMORE—(INS)—That Jones boy, Edgar by name, can be credited today with keeping Cleveland's other champions, the Cleveland Browns, in the running for the all-America conference football title.

The "special delivery" halfback waded through the mud and rain last night in Babe Ruth Memorial field to power the Browns to a 14-10 victory over the Baltimore Colts.

The victory over the eastern division leaders kept the Browns in the unbeaten class, right behind the San Francisco 49'ers who have won six in a row. Cleveland's string now stands at five.

Jones and the Colts' Billy Hillenbrand were the standouts in the contest played under such adverse conditions that only a little more than half, only 22,239, of the program ticket buyers showed up for the contest.

SCORES ON PASS

Hillenbrand scored Baltimore's only touchdown by galloping 78 yards after catching a short screen pass from the Colts' star quarterback, Y. A. title. Jones tallied on six and seven yard bursts in the first and third periods, respectively.

The former Indiana flash staked Baltimore to a 7-point lead on the fourth play of the game. Grossman converted, and booted a 40-yard field goal to make it 10-7, after Jones' first touchdown gallop.

Jones took a short pass from Graham in the third period to nail the victory. Lou (The Toe) Groza converted after both Jones' thrusts.

The Browns got two more scoring chances after that, but once fell short at the 4, Marion Motley fumbled on the 11 the second time.

EAT UP 228

Cleveland held Baltimore to just 87 yards on the ground while the hard-running Cleveland backs were eating up 228 yards.

Jones accounted for 61 yards himself, and Fullback Motley, the workhorse of the squad, banged into the line for 130.

In the air, Baltimore picked up 146 yards to Cleveland's 103.

The Browns tangle with Brooklyn Sunday in Cleveland in a night contest.

Wesleyan Wins

CINCINNATI—(UP)—Ohio Wesleyan beat the University of Cincinnati in a cross-country meet yesterday, 25 to 30.

Ram Bleachers To Be Ready For Next Tilt

Tickets for Madison high school's homecoming game against Loudonville a week from Friday will go on sale tomorrow at Fox Jewelry store, it was announced today by Principal Wayne E. Miller.

Miller reported that the new bleachers would be erected around the field by that time and that Ram field should seat about 3,800 fans for the contest.

While homecoming festivities to be announced next week, will play a big part in the event, the game itself stands as an important engagement.

Both Loudonville and Madison are undefeated and, barring bad luck, both should remain that way until next week. Madison travels to little Rittman in Wayne county this Friday while Loudonville is host to Danville in a Mohican league game.

Madison sports an eight-game win streak.

Don Black Leaves Bed After Tribe Gets Flag

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Cleveland's pennant clinching victory over Boston Monday apparently was all that was needed to speed Don Black on the road to recovery.

Tyger Soph 11 Wins 1st Game, 43-0

BUCYRUS—Mansfield Senior high's sophomore football team made its first start in two years yesterday, defeating the Bucyrus reserves here, 43 to 0.

Coach Vern Hoffman's youngsters scored almost every time they got the ball in the 36-minute contest. Lanky Ken McCally was the Tyger ace as he completed seven of nine passes. Two of the passes went for TD's and Dave Guy caught one for the lone Bengal extra point.

Clarence Bailey and Bill Stutz each had two of the seven Senior high touchdowns. Bailey counted on runs of 25 and 56 yards while Stutz galloped 50 yards for one score and took a pass 35 yards for another. A McCally-to-Bailey pass of 25 yards for a score was called back.

SETS UP SCORE

Stutz also set up another Bengal tally with a 25-yard run. John Petty went 40 yards to score on the next play. Ends Dave Guy and John Fowler scored the other touchdowns. Guy took a 25-yard pass from McCally and ran 15 yards for his while Fowler crossed the double-stripe after intercepting a pass on the 35.

Hoffman used 17 players with Charlie Marchant as his backfield "jack of all trades." Marchant did not start but saw relief duty in three positions. The starters were: Fowler and Guy, ends; John Ernsberger and Jack Wise, tackles; Dick Kent and Ronnie Williams, guards; Gene Fidler, center, and McCally, Bailey, Stutz and Petty in the backfield.

Subs were Howard Guegold, Art Hartig, Gene Monastra, Rutan and Pierce.

'?' Tygers Play At Portsmouth

Strictly off the records, Mansfield Senior high school should have little trouble making Portsmouth its third straight victim Friday night at Portsmouth.

Only two Portsmouth lads who started last year against the Bengals are on the 1948 squad, while Senior high has seven of its 1947 starters ready to go. The Tygers took over the Trojans last year, 23 to 7.

However, Senior high has failed to live up to its pre-season expectations. True the Bengals are unbeaten by Ohio opposition but it has been a case of weakness of the opponents rather than Mansfield strength. The forward wall has looked like a sieve through the middle and the blocking is still not up to snuff.

But the Tygers may pick Friday's game to play the type of ball of which they are capable. Most experts talked Mansfield as the "team to beat in Ohio." They have been a long way from that so far.

Portsmouth is big and strong, but is not up among the giants of Ohio scholastic football this year. The Tygers got off good with a 25 to 7 win over Columbus Aquinas and then fell to Ironton Middletown, 12 to 0. Last week Portsmouth came from behind twice to knock off Springfield, 20 to 19, in a bruising battle.

Both of the 1947 Trojan regulars are in the backfield. Dave Gambill, the back sprinter, is at quarter while scatback Lee Mark holds down left half. Gambill handles the Portsmouth passing and runs quite a bit. This is his third year as a regular. On Mansfield's last trip to the Ohio river town, Gambill scored the lone TD as the Tygers won, 14 to 7.

Paul Snyder, who coached the Bengals to that 14-to-7 win, has scouted Portsmouth twice this year. He said that Portsmouth's line looked bad against Middletown but good against Springfield. Paul thinks that the Tygers will be in for a rugged night Friday.

The Portsmouth line is big but inexperienced. It will outweight Senior high by about 15 pounds per man. The big bulge is provided by Jack Keyser, 240-pound tackle. Line lettermen are Deb Allen at center and Howard Bender at guard.

The Trojan line averages 178 pounds and the backs 164, about the same as the Tyger leather luggers.

Cleveland Barons Drop Second to Detroit, 4-2

The Wings made it two in a row over the Barons in Toledo last night, 4-2.

Ohio State Gets Ready For Iowa 11

COLUMBUS—(AP)—With the prospect that 65,000 to 70,000 people will turn out to see if it is true, Ohio State university's football Buckeyes are preparing for a hard game Saturday.

The game is their Western Conference opener against Iowa, and Coach Wesley Fesler gave it to them at practice yesterday that the Hawkeyes are a "rough, tough nasty ball club" He had Scout Jack Graf, who watched the Hawkeyes in their first two games against Marquette and Indiana, give details of what to expect.

The first and second teams then drilled the rest of the afternoon on stopping anything the Hawkeyes might show, especially in the way of passing.

ONE MAN OUT

Fesler reported only one man in drydock at present. That's Ray Dipierro of Toledo, who has a sprained ankle and likely won't be in at left guard Saturday

His replacements probably will be George Mattey of Cleveland and Jerry Mantz of Toledo, both 220-pounders

Right ends Tom Watson of Urbana and Jim Hague of Rocky River have recovered from early season injuries, but Charlie Gilbert of Columbus probably will continue as the starter. Fesler said, because of his good work in the Missouri and Southern California games.

Braves May Need These Horseshoes

BOSTON —(INS)— The Boston Braves will enter the World Series with a horseshoe in their pockets today.

At a luncheon yesterday, representatives of Manager Billy Southworth's hometown — Sunbury, O —presented him with a silver-plated horseshoe.

It was taken from Knight Dream, winner of the recent Little Brown Jug pacing classic at Delaware Small replicas of the shoe were presented to each of the Braves.

Corum Picks Braves In Series

By BILL CORUM

BOSTON—(INS)—A Boston tea party would have gone unnoticed last night and Paul Revere could have ridden Citation out the Concord road at a full run without getting his name in the papers

Nobody may remember the name of Revere's horse, but there are mighty few men, women and children in Boston today who couldn't tell you the names of Southworth's and Boudreau's starting pitchers.

The most staid of cities has picked her 'old look" skirts and gone daffy over baseball There hasn't, thus far, been any dancing in the streets.

But hold on to your hats, boys. If "Chew Tobacco Johnny" Sain, the tall, slow righthander with as many curves (baseball wise) as Rita Hayworth, can outpitch Cleveland's Bob Feller in today's opener, the dancing in the streets may come.

The first game of any World's Series is quite often its most important. Playing a best-four-out-of-a-possible-seven, the importance of that first victory is hard to over-emphasize

CHIEF THUNDER BAT

Right now the Boston fans and the Boston ball writers are more than a little scared of Chief Thunder Bat Boudreau and his Tribe They saw 'em launder Joe McCarthy's Red Sox to pale pink in that play-off game on Monday.

But every ball game is a new ball game. What the Indians did Monday, they don't necessarily have to repeat Wednesday, or Thursday.

The history of the Cleveland team this year has been that it doesn't repeat its good games with any degree of regularity. The history of Feller has been that even when he was at his blazing fastest, he frequently let the "big ones" get away.

Let Sain take charge of Boudreau's bully boys in this first game and the Series will have a different aspect I don't say that Johnny will But I say that he may.

The Lake Erie Indians did look terrifying when they put on what may well have been "McCarthy's last stand" at Fenway park. Psychologically, that smashing victory can have given them the lift they needed to sweep through this series the same way that same McCarthy's Yankee teams used to brush aside the best the National League could offer.

Still, one needs to look no further back down the season's trail than last Sunday to see an entirely different Cleveland team. Not to mention a Feller who was considerably less than overpowering

Go back through the recent National league race and you'll note that when the Braves had to win a game, or a series, they won it. I grant it's a pretty motley crew to be picking to win a World Series.

For better or for worse, that's what I'm going to do Not without mentioning, though, that the choice is rather heavily coated with sentiment and a natural love of somewhat forlorn hopes and lost causes.

Having stuck my well-battered neck out that far, I'll go the whole way and attempt to name the winner of each game of the series day by day. Not necessarily the Braves every day There are times when I can set the hole in the end of an empty barrel, if it is a big enough barrel.

But for the first one, I do pick the Braves, with Sain the winning pitcher and Feller the loser, with the vital statistics, as follows:

Boston .....8-10—1
Cleveland .....4- 8—2

Cuff Stuff .

News: "Boston has wonderful scrod, beautiful swan boats in the public parks—and the misfortune of playing the Indians."

Irving Vaughan, Chicago Tribune "I'd pick the Indians without question They're probably the best-balanced ball club in either league"

Jerry Mitchell, N Y Post: "It should be another Indians massacre with Billy Southworth in the General Custer role."

Edgar Munzel, Chicago Sun-Times: "Cleveland in six I figure that Sain and Spahn can at least win one each."

Lou Effrat, N Y Times: "The Indians in five I can't see the Braves winning any games except with Sain pitching. Cleveland has better batting, pitching, infield and reserves."

Most confident out-of-town baseball writer on the Indians' bandwagon was Warren Brown of the Chicago Herald-American, who predicted: "The Indians in four straight."

Tyger Harrier Team Races to 19th Straight

Mansfield Senior high's cross country team yesterday moved to its 19th straight victory by defeating the Fremont Ross Little Giants, 18 to 37, over a chilly Coolridge course

Letterman Rudy Sheetz hung up his first high school victory as he covered the rugged two-miles in 11 minutes, 36.2 seconds. Jerry Gerrell, who had copped the individual title in the first meet of the season, wound up fourth.

Alan Poorman of the Bengals was second while Don Michaels, Fremont, came in third. George Middlebrook and John Wakeley of Mansfield were fifth and sixth Two Tyger lettermen—Tom Pankow and Jim Kibler—did not place.

Senior high runs Cleveland Rhodes Saturday at 10 a. m. and Columbus West Oct. 14. Both meets are at Coolridge

Promoter War Out In Open

NEW YORK—(UP)—The boxing promotion "war" between the established 20th Century club and the upstart Tournament of Champions, Inc., broke out again today in a verbal battle about which organization had the services of world welterweight champion, Sugar Ray Robinson.

The 20th Century claimed it had signed Robinson for a Dec. 17 non-title bout against middleweight Steve Belloise of New York. But a spokesman for the Tournament of Champions later quoted Robinson as saying he had not signed to face Belloise.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Chinese Nationalists Meeting Reverses In Manchuria

Reds Claim Capture of Changchun

Troops Retreat, Reports State

NANKING—(INS)—Chinese nationalist troops were reported today to have abandoned the former Manchurian capital of Changchun to communist siege forces, bringing communist claims to capture of the city.

Dispatches to Nanking said the government's Changchun garrison of about 35,000 officers and men fought its way through the encircling communist lines in a retreat and escape to the south.

The withdrawing troops were reported battling to reach and join the government forces defending the perimeter around the long-beleagured South Manchurian metropolis of Mukden.

The Chinese government's entire precarious position in rich Manchuria appeared to be swiftly deteriorating under the blows of a multi-pronged Red offensive.

Earlier, the Chinese communists were disclosed officially to have captured Ihsien, 30 miles north of the encircled Manchurian bastion of Chinsien.

Other communist columns shattered the nationalist defense line in Manchuria's western Liaoning province from Shanhaikwan to besieged Chinsien. At Shanhaikwan the Great Wall comes down to the sea and thus the Reds were in position to sweep down the coastal corridor into North China proper.

There was no official confirmation as yet of the news dispatches reporting that the Chanchun garrison actually had withdrawn from the former Manchurian capital.

Changchun has been cut off from all other nationalist forces, except for a supply air-drop, since last July.

A front-line dispatch from Chinhsien said the troops from Changchun already had reached Changtu, 70 miles north of Red-blockaded Mukden where the bulk of the government's Manchurian forces are concentrated.

Other nationalist forces were reported to have pushed south from the Mukden perimeter through the communist siege lines. These units, according to pro-government dispatches, were hammering southwest in an effort to reach and relieve the surrounded nationalist troops at Chinhsien.

One government column was reported to have reached Tahushan, 70 miles northeast of Chinhsien, an essential base for the airlife which is sustaining an estimated 150,000 nationalist troops within the Mukden perimeter.

Observers believe the capture of Ihsien will enable the Red forces to establish, for the first time, a rail connection between north Manchuria and eastern Jehol in North China.

Japan's Coalition Cabinet Nearing Complete Collapse

TOKYO — (INS) — Japan's coalition cabinet of Prime Minister Hitoshi Ashida tottered today on the brink of collapse and its fall was expected within 24 hours.

In the face of a mounting scandal involving men in high places, Premier Ashida summoned his ministers to an emergency session tomorrow morning.

Ashida's call came after ten leaders of the powerful social Democratic (Socialist) party demanded the cabinet's immediate resignation. The ten included seven cabinet members.

The government crisis was intensified earlier today with the arrest of former Deputy Premier Suhiro Nishio, a Social Democratic party leader.

He was taken into custody at dawn on suspicion of accepting bribes in conection with the scandal centered around government loans to the Showa Denko fertilizer combine.

Nishio already is undergoing a second trial in another case in which he is accused of having accepted bribes from contractors doing business with the government.

Nishio's arrest in connection with the Showa Denko affair means that all of Japan's three major parties now have leaders involved in that scandal and facing trial.

That more arrests are coming was indicated by Attorney General Yoshio Suzuki. He said the Showa Denko investigation "now is about halfway to its goal."

Illness Fatal To P. W. Schneider

Paul William Schneider, 35, of Mansfield, died yesterday at Galhpolis after an extended illness.

He was born here May 6, 1913. He was a member of the St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Mr. Schneider is survived by his father, Jacob Schneider, of Mansfield; four brothers, Joseph and Frank of Mansfield, Chris of Ashland, and Jacob of New York City; two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Sperzel, of Mansfield, and Mrs. William Eaky, of Ashland.

The body is at the Wappner funeral home, where services will be held Friday at 1 p. m. Rev. M. W. Wappner will officiate. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Charges Fly At Hearing

and that by changing unions, he might benefit. Arnold said he took the suggestion to mean that he would receive better pay or something to that effect.

UNIQUE TRIAL

The trial in Galion is unique because it is one of the first under the Taft-Hartley law wherein the charges of both labor and management are consolidated and tried as one case. Fusco, representing general counsel of the NLRB is now acting as prosecutor for the union's charges against the company, and when other witnesses appear he will act as prosecutor for the comany's charges against the union.

After the witnesses appear and evidence is presented in the case, Myers will report his findings to the NLRB for a decision.

Two charges filed by the United Auto Workers Union (CIO) of unfair labor practices against the North Company management are being heard first, while the company's charges, one against the International UAW and the other against Local 951 of the union, will be heard later.

The hearing is being conducted in order to clear charges before the NLRB will certify an election to determine the bargaining agent at the plant.

The company is being represented by Attorneys Fred O. Burkhalter and Robert H. Jamison of Cleveland, and the UAW-CIO is represented by Lowell Goerlich of Toledo. Attorneys for both sides proceed to cross examine the witnesses.

Witnesses called to the stand by Fusco besides Herbert Arnold, Tuesday, were R. N. Brentlinger, former employe, who indicated in his testimony that one of the vice tioned Brentlinger about his union affiliations and suggested that he was on the "wrong side." Upon cross examination Brentlinger said he had gone voluntarily.

Mrs. Rosie Billeter of the Mt. Gilead branch plant of the North Company, an inspector for the past three years testified that the plant supervisor at Mt. Gilead, Hoy Rhodebeck, told her during the time the Mt. Gilead plant was closed that if she secured a job at The Westinghouse plant in Mansfield she would have to join the union, and if she joined, she would be "S.O.L." at the Mt. Gilead plant if she did that. Gladys (Fout) Fensch, now living in Mansfield, gave similar testimony to Mrs. Billeter.

Mrs. Linnett Cowl, stenciling inspector, now an officer of the Independent Workers Union at the plant, George Fadely and Hugh Goodrich, other officers of the Independent union and workers at the Galion plant, told of a meeting this year with company officials in which they presented their own grievances as well as other workers. They said that R. K. McBerty, a vice president made it plain that he would hear their grievances as individuals and not as representatives of a union.

Arthur Sherer, a former supervisor at the plant, and now employed at a local dairy, was cross examined at length as to his attendance at a meeting of the UAW-CIO.

A. J. McDonough of Crestline, also a former supervisor at the plant, under whom Sherer worked, was another witness.

Pastors Offer Help In Drive For Grain to Ship Overseas

The Richland County Ministerial association has offered to help committee members of the Christian Rural Overseas program complete the campaign for cash and grain throughout the county in time for a second train some time later this fall.

JAMES D. WYKER

Richland county fell down on its quota of grain or its cash equivalent for the first Ohio train on Aug. 26, but will make an effort to collect enough, either of cash or grain for the second train, which will roll through Ohio's farmlands later in the season.

Rev. R. W. McNary, chairman of the CROP committee for Richland county, said that to date the organization here has a total of $1,300 in cash and grain, but it is hoped that when the final report is made for the second car Richland county will have contributed a cash or grain equivalent of $3,500.

MEET OCT. 19

A meeting of all committee members and ministers of the county who have volunteered to help will be held Oct. 19 at 8 p. m. in the First Methodist church to organize a second campaign. Rev. McNary said. At this meeting James E. Wyker, head of the Ohio CROP will speak and show films.

Rev. Stoneburner, president of the Ministerial association, said, in announcing the help of the pastors, "We must help see this thing through."

"I maintain, from what we have learned to date, that people are ready and willing to give if we present the matter personally," Rev. McNary said.

Mansfield's four banks will continue to receive cash contributions and the mills of Richland county will credit grain contributions.

Radio Guides Jet Planes, Buzz Bombs

'Operation Combine' Reveals Secrets

VALPARAISO, Fla. —(INS)— Air Force officials disclosed today that F-80 jet planes and jet-driven "buzz bombs" have been successfully flown by radio control.

The disclosures came in connection with the display of new air fighting and bombing techniques in the joint Army, Navy and Air Force war games - "operation combine."

Among the new developments are bombs which are guided to their targets by television and heat and a new parachute which cuts down the hazard of jumping from jet and rocket planes.

Radio control of the F-80 "Shooting Star" was achieved only recently at the Alamogordo, N. M., air base. The plane, which has attained a speed of more than 620 miles an hour, is the first jet aircraft to be flown by remote control.

Guiding of the U. S. Air Force counterpart of the German V-1 "buzz bomb," which terrorized London during the war, greatly enhances its accuracy.

As fired by the Germans, the bomb was merely aimed in the general direction of the target.

Air power demonstrations scheduled for today and tomorrow face the possibility of postponement because of the threat of a hurricane now reported heading for the Florida coast.

The shows are to include maneuvers my crack Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots and some 450 paratroops.

Confesses Murder of Girl, 14

Police Seize Columbus Man

SPRINGFIELD— (AP) — A former trusty in the Columbus city jail was seized early today and confessed, police said, that he shot and killed Mary Page, 14-year-old grade school pupil.

Everett L. McSavaney and Richard Longnecker, investigators for the State Bureau of Identification, identified the man as Dwight David Tudor, 26.

"Yes, I did it, but I don't know why," the officers quoted him.

The body of the girl, shot three times, was found Monday morning in the Boone Station school yard, 3 miles southwest of here.

Tudor was taken into custody at the Columbus police headquarters last night when he brought Miss Lillian Weaver, police record clerk, to work.

McSavaney and Longnecker had traced him through a driver's license observed by a girl companion of Miss Page as they were auto riding Sunday night.

RELATES STATEMENT

Officer McSavaney said Tudor gave this account:

He had visited "several girls" in Springfield in the past, and on Sunday night picked up Miss Page and a 13-year-old companion.

After driving about for a while, Tudor left the younger girl at a bus stop and drove into the country with the Page girl.

"He said," McSavaney reported "he drove the girl to the school yard and sat with her a while; then went to the rear of his car and took a 22 caliber rifle from the trunk, went back and shot the girl.

"He returned to Columbus Sunday night and left the rifle at the home of a friend. We found the gun there. His clothing, part of which had been freshly washed but not ironed, was found in Miss Weaver's apartment."

Coroner Austin Richards of Clark county said the Page girl had not been raped.

Crossing Violation Draws Fine

Driver Failed To Obey Signal

Earl Stamper, 14 Fern avenue, was fined $10 and costs in municipal court today after he pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to obey the signals of a railroad crossing watchman

The charge was first brought against his brother, Donald, who pleaded guilty yesterday, and then denied driving the car. The court today vacated Donald's guilty plea and dismissed charges against him.

Earl Stamper was arrested Monday night by a railroad detective and sheriff's deputies after he drove through the Pennsylvania railroad's crossing against the watchman's signal for him to stop.

Kenneth Crooks, 92 Marshall avenue, was bound over to the grand jury under $1,000 bond after he pleaded guilty to issuing a check with insufficient funds. The $10 check was allegedly drawn on the Mansfield Savings and Trust National bank, and made out to Miller's Grill.

Virginia Shepard 266 North Main street was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail on a charge of assault and battery brought by Amanda Childs.

Contempt of court charges against Acie Miles, 98½ North Main street, were continued until tomorrow. He is charged with failing to obey a subpoena to appear in court on Sept. 15 to testify in the case of Gable King, 216 North Franklin avenue, who is charged with unsafe operation.

Dean J. Updike, Fredericktown, was fined $15 and costs for operating an overloaded truck and $10 and costs for driving a motor vehicle with plates issued to another car.

Jacob M. Henke 353 Taylor road, was fined $10 and costs for unsafe operation

Appeal Lost By Bowman

The Fifth district court of appeals today upheld the conviction of Donald DeVere Bowman, 29, of Columbus. DeVere was found guilty by a common pleas court jury of robbery of the Wade and Roberts restaurant in Orchard park last April. On June 10 he was sentenced to 10 to 25 years in the penitentiary.

The court rejected the alleged errors in the trial, cited by the defendant's attorney, William A. Calhoun. It was principally based on the face that Charles Keller, of Columbus, had been permitted to testify before Mrs. Veronica Black testified.

Mrs. Black was with Bowman and her husband, Clarence, 24, when the robbery took place. However, she was freed in municipal court because of insufficient evidence. Black pleaded guilty in common pleas court and was placed on probation for five years.

Keller testified for the state that he was robbed by Bowman and his brother, Dean, eight years ago in Columbus. His testimony showed that the Columbus robbery and the Richland county robbery were similar. Bowman in both cases being the lookout. The brothers were sentenced and later paroled.

The appeals court's unanimous opinion was written by the presiding judge, Robert B. Putnam. It said in part that it was "within the court's discretion to allow Keller's testimony before Mrs. Veronica Black's and under the circumstances there was neither prejudicial error nor abuse of discretion."

Car Abandoned

Sheriff's deputies had a Packard coupe with the licenses number VZ-744 towed to a garage last night after it was reported abandoned on Bowman street street road, near the Wagner farm. Deputies said the car was parked about two-thirds on the highway, creating a traffic hazard.

Steel Shares Leading Brisk Stock Market Rally Today

NEW YORK—(AP)—Steel shares led a comparatively brisk rally in the stock market today after a halting start.

Automobile and railroad stocks were close seconds in the forward move which got under way late in the first hour's dealings.

Wall street quarters suggested that the appearance of Andrei Y. Vishinsky, the Soviet deputy foreign minister, at the U. S. security council table was a constructive development.

One present governmental vacancy that fails to cause deep concern is that in the office of vice president.

Information is leaking out that at least one magazine due to hit the newsstands November 3 is proceeding on the assumption that the election is over and that Dewey has been elected—which is remindful of a magazine that appeared on December 8, 1941 with an article boasting about the impregnability of Pearl Harbor.

Russia Pursues Obstructive Course

AS EXPECTED, Russia has vigorously protested action by the United Nations security council in the matter of the Berlin blockade and its attendant complications.

By taking this obstructive position the Soviet Union acts in character with the numerous vetoes heretofore interposed to impede majority wishes in the conduct of United Nations business.

What will finally come out of the Berlin imbroglio cannot be foreseen, but unless there is a change of front on the part of Russia, interminable bickering seems in prospect, with restoration of friendly relations apparently out of the question.

An article by DeWitt Mackenzie elsewhere on this page throws an interesting sidelight on what is believed to be the waning influence of Russian communism in European countries that have thus far escaped Soviet domination, and a firm but patient attitude on the part of the really "united" members of the United Nations seems the proper course in continuance of efforts to find a peaceful solution of present disagreements.

When Enthusiasm Inspires Action

NOT THAT it can be done, but suppose—just for a moment—that any form of civic enterprise or constructive effort could elicit the same degree of enthusiasm as was evidenced in Cleveland Monday afternoon and evening, following that baseball game by which the Indians won the American league pennant.

Suppose, for instance, that a majority of Mansfielders could be aroused to such enthusiasm over the matter of providing money to improve and expand this city's public school system—what a wave of support would thus be assured for the bond issue proposal to be voted on at the November election!

Suppose Mansfield's traffic problems were given the same enthusiastic interest by thousands of citizens as is being shown in the approaching Mansfield-Massillon football game—how quickly some of the tangles would be worked out!

And suppose—if you can suppose that far—that all the laymen in Mansfield churches would act as a unit in proposing and furthering a program for civic betterment, with a view to eliminating some of the breeding places of adult and juvenile delinquency—what a greatly improved city this would become!

All of this is just "supposing," of course, but it is interesting to consider the high degree of enthusiasm that can be aroused by sports events—and that is a good thing—while some seemingly at least equally important matters are complacently disregarded by many persons.

One Anniversary Obscures Another

ONE HOLIDAY is so well known that it obscures another anniversary which deserves more attention than its gets. This is Pulaski day, just proclaimed as such by President Truman, occurring on October 11, the day before Columbus Day.

Count Casimir Pulaski was one of the group of adventurous young Europeans who helped the thirteen colonies to win their independence. Lafayette, Kosciusko and Steuben are familiar examples. Some, like Lafayette, were actuated by a generous love of liberty and a desire to spread it wide. Pulaski belonged rather to the soldier of fortune type. Having to flee his native Poland when it fell under Russian control, he helped the Turks to war against the Russians. Reduced to poverty, he was suggested to Benjamin Franklin in Paris as a likely helper in the Revolution.

During the war he held various commands with mixed success, and not with entire pleasure in his work. His failings were redeemed, however, by his gallant death on October 11, 1779, at the siege of Savannah. His services entitle him to the grateful memory of Americans.

The Kansas City Star corrects an error: "It is drawn to our attention that in a paragraph yesterday we put the 15-cent haircut barber in Massachusetts instead of Ohio. We had assumed the price was higher than that before there was an Ohio."

Noting that "even the wrinkled prune is given government price support," Harry Wade surmises, "even the Townsend plan could do no more."

Some people still seem to think the question, "How are you?" requires a comprehensive answer.

Washington Calling

Russia and Atom Bombs

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — In the vast game of power politics being played out between the USA and the USSR, Andrei Vishinsky resorted to a bold threat when he hinted before the United Nations in Paris that Russia already has the atom bomb. On the basis of the latest confidential information, top level advisers here are convinced the Vishinsky threat was a transparent bluff.

The latest information comes from ambassador Walter Bedell Smith, who flew from Moscow by way of Berlin and Paris to report on the current phase of the crisis with the Soviet Union. What Smith told the President and the joint chiefs of staff here in Washington was, in essence, as follows.

It will be five years, perhaps even longer, before Russia can produce atomic bombs in sufficient numbers to make war. This is not, however, because of lack of the scientific knowledge to produce atomic fission.

What Russia lacks is the technology and the production that America has developed in the years before World War II and particularly under the stimulus of the war. In his talks, Smith was most emphatic on this point.

Thousands of heat compressors, thousands of precision instruments, a far-reaching industrial complex are essential to mass production of atomic bombs. Only the United States has an industry on that scale and the thousands, yes, hundreds of thousands, of experts on every level to staff it. The Russian deficiency in these matters cannot be made up overnight.

But, as reported by Smith to the President, this advantage should not be taken by American policy-makers as justification for the kind of moves that might force a war. The ambassador to Moscow urged a policy of pacification that would stop just short of appeasement as represented by the surrender of Berlin to the Russians.

* * *

Russia Ready To Move.

SMITH based his argument for caution on the extreme weakness of western Europe. The Russians have in the Soviet zone of Germany completely equipped troops and transportation to move on a moment's notice. The best advices indicate that they would reach the channel ports of France within 30 days at the outside.

This is a fact conveniently ignored by certain influential Air Force generals who talk brashly of a lightning war to last 30 days or, at the most, three months. Such a war would be conducted by small fleets of high-speed planes dropping atomic bombs on strategic enemy centers.

Even a clear-cut victory would be meaningless so long as western Europe was occupied by Soviet troops supporting communist governments in western European capitals. Such governments would come into power as Soviet troops approached the borders. No country of Western Europe has any force in being to resist those troops, a fact well known both in Washington and in Moscow.

This is the perfectly obvious explanation of the French reluctance to proceed actively with the western defense alliance. What to do when the invaders come is the whispered fear of many a gathering in France.

Yet, as Ambassador Smith made clear, the chief hope lies in the precious time essential for building up defensive forces in the west. The bulk of the aid must come from this country.

What Smith reported, with respect to Russia's chief deficiency in the race for atomic weapons, bears directly on the present effort of the house un-American activities committee to whip up an atomic spy scare.

Ever since Hiroshima, leading scientists have been saying that the scientific know-how is the common property of nuclear physicists, and Russia has some first-rate nuclear physicists, throughout the world. Once Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves released the Smythe report telling the steps leading up to the successful discovery of atomic fission, there were few "secrets" for Russia or any other nation to discover.

Looking Back

Twenty Years Ago Today

Saturday, Oct. 6, 1928.

William C. Stafford, state insurance commissioner appealed to state supreme court to reverse decisions of lower courts in matter of sale of property of Great American Insurance company to Y. M. C. A.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Clark Brook, 15 Wood street; daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Neel, 227 South Franklin avenue; daughter to Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor, South Main street.

Postmaster Harry E. Hawley was elected president of Ohio Amuma clubs at state meeting held in Marion.

Al Jolson in "The Singing Fool" was screen attraction at the Madison—starting week's engagement.

Richland County Republican Service League was organized, with J. Earl Ports as chairman.

Robert C. Remy returned after several months tour of western states.

Second annual meeting of Mansfield Memorial Association was held in Memorial building, and Thomas Bell, Spanish War veteran, was elected president.

Dave Boone Says:

ANDREI VISHINSKY practically says Moscow has the atomic bomb and he sure does talk like a fellow who not only has it, but one who is well into his delivery—a southpaw delivery, of course.

* * *

At a critical global conference where the brain and the heart should guide every decision in a matter of the life or death of the world, Vishinsky talks about chicken necks. You would think it was a convention of poultry dressers.

* * *

The tragic thing is that when Vishinsky gets up to talk on anything, he just gives a demonstration in flying into rages. He can fly higher into a rage than man has ever flown before, it seems to me. And he flies with the speed of sound. Yes, and super sound.

* * *

This planet would throw off its war jitters and come close to peace if Vishinsky, for once in his life would some day make a speech in which he agreed with somebody on any point and hinted that any issue was debatable.

Speaking of Your Health

Influenza Evades Control

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

UNDERSTANDING of epidemic influenza has grown apace during the past few years, but even so the disease still evades control.

Influenza is caused by a virus, and the two common strains of this tiny troublemaker have been isolated and identified as influenza A and influenza B. Fear of a disastrous outbreak, such as that experienced in 1918, spurred research during the late war, with the result that scientists learned something about when an epidemic of influenza might be expected to strike.

It was determined that in the United States epidemics of influenza A have occurred at two- to three-year intervals, while those due to influenza B recurred in a four- to six-year pattern.

Not only this, but a vaccine for the prevention of influenza was produced. Containing both strains of the virus, it was thought that it would be effective against either and for a time it was.

Great Strides.

These were great strides forward. With the means of predicting an epidemic and a method for immunizing against the disease, it seemed we had everything needed to check it.

And then suddenly, during the epidemics of 1946 and 1947, the vaccine seemed to lose its power to combat the virus. Usually, those who had been immunized fell ill with just as great frequency as those who had not.

A search for the cause of this unexpected failure of a vaccine, which had proved so valuable during the immediately preceding years, led to the conclusion that the virus strains had undergone some mysterious change. In some way not yet understood, the wiley virus had been able to alter its constitution just enough to make it impervious to the antibodies built up in the blood by the vaccine.

Thus today, for all our research, we are not much further forward. Unless new strains of the virus can be isolated from cases in advance of future epidemics and incorporated in the vaccine, it cannot be expected to do much good in the way of prevention.

No Specific Treatment.

Unfortunately, we have no specific treatment for influenza either. About all that can be done is to keep the patient in bed and give him plenty of fluids and quieting drugs. The breathing of medicated steam or vapor may also prove helpful.

What Some Other People Are Saying

PRESIDENT TRUMAN: "Despite the opposition of Russia, the Marshall plan is making substantial progress in Europe. It has been made plain through the cominform that every possible effort would be exerted to prevent the ERP from succeeding."

* * *

HAROLD ICKES, former secretary of the interior: "I talked issues of the campaign with the President. I left my hatchet outside the White House in my car."

* * *

SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer: "Through American aid and her own effort, Britain expects to be self reliant economically in four years."

DeWitt Mackenzie's Column

Tide Has Turned Against Communism

DEAN ACHESON former undersecretary of state declared in a speech before the Michigan State Bar association at Lansing that the tide has turned against the Russian drive for greater power.

The difficulties, the dangers, the crises have not disappeared, said Acheson. The Russian efforts to consolidate and extend their power have not ceased, they may be intensified.

'But the tide has turned and is running against them.'

Your correspondent must hold that analysis as a true bill since it represents a view which he has been expressing in this column for a considerable time.

A "true bill" is an indictment supported by evidence, and there certainly is plenty of evidence that the bolshevists have seen their best days.

On the face of it the communists made heavy gains during and since the war. However, I believe time will show that most of these gains are more apparent than real, because many of them have been achieved, not by conversion to the cause but by trickery and force. There's bound to be a reaction in due course.

The case of Czechoslovakia is typical evidence. There we have a liberty-loving little country which was taken over by skulduggery and strong-arm methods. She hasn't been converted to communism and she will strike for her freedom when the opportunity arises, as I believe it will.

Communism's greatest gains have been due to opportunities presented by the world war, and to lack of opposition by trusting allies who were eager to meet the wishes of a comrade in arms. The bolshevists have trafficked on the fact that their armies occupied eastern Europe, and they have taken advantage of the naive trust of the Western democracies.

* * *

Evidence of Desperation.

THE REDS had easy picking for a long time gobbling up helpless countries occupied by Soviet troops. But now the communist offensive in Europe has bogged down in the face of resistance by the democracies who refuse to follow the appeasement trail to Munich.

That's why we see the bolshevists now trying to gain their ends in Germany by taking calculated chances of precipitating war. They don't want war, but are desperate enough to gamble.

Of course the communists have sold an ideological bill of goods in many countries. Their chief success, however, has been in taking advantage of economic distress. Folk who are suffering privation often are ready to gamble politically in an effort to get relief, and so the communists have sold their mess of pottage as good roast beef.

Their chief success outside eastern Europe has been in Italy and France, but in both those countries the Reds recently have been losing ground.

Their political strength is not great in the other democracies, though there are strong Red fifth-columns operating in all countries. The cominform 'general staff for world revolution' is going all out in its efforts to take full advantage of the political unrest and economic distress in Asia. Burma, Malaya, Indonesia and other areas are seething with revolts which are largely communist inspired.

The bolshevists are straining every nerve to keep their world revolution going, and the fight between communism and democracy is far from over. However, the tide of battle has turned.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Thomas Annoyed By Tenacious Trooper

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Congressman J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey, chairman of the un-American activities committee, is a most suspicious person. Not only has he investigated all sorts of alleged communists, but he also sought to investigate a policeman who arrested him.

Thomas is not, however, at all happy over the current FBI investigation of himself and the kickbacks he received from four women who returned all or part of their government salaries to him.

Nor does the congressman relish the investigation of the way in which he kept two soldiers out of combat and then later collected several hundred dollars from their families.

The policeman Thomas wanted investigated was Maryland State Trooper Kaplow, who arrested the congressman near Port Deposit, Md., some time ago, for violating a 50-mile speed limit and passing other cars on a curve.

Complaining about the incident in a letter to W. Lee Elgin, Maryland commissioner of motor vehicles, Rep. Thomas wrote:

"I signaled to the trooper to stop and then told him who I was."

The trooper phoned headquarters for instructions, and was told that since Congress was not in session, Thomas had no congressional immunity. The congressman was then taken before Magistrate J. Howard Pugh at Port Deposit where, despite his plea that he was in a hurry to keep important engagements in Washington, he was fined $17.50.

* * *

Un-American Motorist?

APPARENTLY, Thomas's behavior was such that State Trooper Kaplow was suspicious. He didn't really think the congressman was an un-American communist, but he did think he might be un-American in jeopardizing the safety of other vehicles. So Trooper Kaplow decided to keep a friendly eye on the gentleman from New Jersey.

The congressman's own description of the matter is much more graphic than anything that could be written by a columnist. So we will quote from his own indignant letter to Commissioner Elgin.

After going about two miles, Thomas said, "I noticed that Trooper Kaplow was following me. At the time I was driving about 30 miles per hour. We were traveling on a road where there were signs showing the speed limit was 50 miles per hour. I lowered my speed, Kaplow lowered his. Then I raised my speed to see what he would do, and he still followed me."

The chairman of the un-American activities committee has tapped the telephones of a great many people. He has employed a young army of investigators to shadow suspects and dig through their past. But he became highly indignant when the Maryland state trooper trailed behind his automobile. In fact, he became so indignant that he stopped and demanded that Kaplow stop following him.

"To which Kaplow replied," as Thomas later reported to the Maryland commissioner of vehicles, "that he was going to follow me. And for ten miles Kaplow trailed my car. As far as I could find out, he did it for just one reason, and that was to annoy me."

* * *

Un-American Cop?

ALL of this touched off the congressman's suspicions. A suspicious soul anyway, Thomas decided that there was something dire and foreboding in the action of this policeman. Probably he was un-American. So he asked the Maryland commissioner for an official investigation.

"I appeal to you for an investigation of this case," he wrote Elgin. "I do not want any favors. I am perfectly willing to take my medicine along with everyone else, but I am convinced that there were aspects to the case that were not only unduly annoying, but which lead to suspicion."

The congressman was so suspicious that he also got the support of his then colleague, Congressman Dudley Roe of Maryland, who wrote Commissioner Elgin that Thomas was "a very outstanding member of Congress and a warm personal friend of mine."

"He has been driving a car for thirty years," continued Roe, "and has never had a summons before. Public officials greatly regret having any summons appear on their record, and anything you can do in this matter to straighten out the incident for Congressman Thomas will be sincerely appreciated by me."

The Maryland authorities, however, weren't worried about Trooper Kaplow's possible un-Americanism. They did absolutely nothing.

Meanwhile, Rep. Thomas was so suspicious, so irate, and so indignant that he even asked A. W. Magee, New Jersey motor vehicle commissioner, to investigate.

Embarrassed, Magee gave him the brush-off.

"I am sure," he wrote back, "that the Maryland authorities will thoroughly investigate. I know you will appreciate that it will be difficult for the department to do anything inasmuch as it happened in another state."

Thus ended another chapter in the palpitating life of J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey.

More Cheerful Tidings

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — It had been three years since the colonel had packed his A-bag, passed around his last P.X. rations, picked up his travel orders and headed home from Europe.

Since then, he had returned to his law practice and, despite being given a postwar promotion to brigadier general, had turned from military plans to politics and had been elected to his country's Congress.

But a lot of things happened in three years and a good many questions were hanging unanswered in the congressman's mind. Worries, too.

So once again he packed his bags to meet the flight weight limit and, strictly on his own, took off for a tour of troubled Europe to find out some of the answers.

For the most part, they were encouraging. Just returned, these are some of the conclusions drawn by Republican Congressman Kenneth B. Keating of New York:

1. War with Russia is not likely, at least in the near future.

2. Communism is losing ground in central Europe;

3. The European recovery program definitely is working;

4. The Berlin air-lift was by far the most important psychological stroke of the "cold war;"

5. A huge reshuffling of populations may be required to bring about full European recovery and,

6. Americans, both in and out of uniform, are regaining the popularity they lost during the early days of occupation.

Short, slight and alert, Keating's youthful face belies his rough mane of center-parted silver hair—not to mention his service through two wars in almost every rank from buck private to brigadier general. But that service stands behind his predictions about the possibility of a Third World War.

"Berlin, of course, is the most acute issue right now," he says. "But I don't believe the Russians dare precipitate a war over the Berlin business—and certainly we won't. . . . So, any way you want to put it, I don't anticipate war . . ."

About European communism:

"In many spots, the communists are losing both face and foothold. Part of this is because many central Europeans are beginning to see through them. Part of it is a result of natural economic recovery. Part of it has been brought about by the psychology of the Marshall Plan. And still more of it has been effected by our overseas information service, which seems to be keeping central Europeans pretty much up to date on the actual facts."

* * *

Impressed By Air-Lift.

PRACTICALLY speaking, Keating feels that the European Recovery Program is showing greatest results in Belgium, Italy and Austria. Also, he says the economic improvement, while less marked, is still noticeable in England and in Germany.

France, he says, seems to have shown the least degree of physical recovery, although the psychological effect of the program is apparent there, too.

"The Berlin air-lift was a shock—an impressive surprise to the Russians. They didn't believe it possible. And the Russian leaders are not fools," Keating stresses. "They recognize the military potential behind a country which can mobilize, almost overnight, enough planes to accomplish such a mammoth, though peaceable, job. . . .

"And the psychological effect of the air-lift has been terrific, not only with the affected Germans but also with almost all Europeans."

The matter of American popularity in Europe obviously has made a deep impression on the soldier-turned-congressman. Although admitting that his being out of uniform might have eased some warborn resentments in many spots, Keating still feels that the change in attitude toward Americans is marked enough to be noteworthy on a diplomatic level.

"There was no fawning," he says, "but I had the feeling that almost everywhere I went I was welcome."

And it wasn't that way in Europe when the colonel packed his bag three years ago.

Farmer's Diary

Just Quips and Quotes

By CALVIN A. BYERS

"FARMERS have been patient with city sportsmen, many of whom are careless and often harmful. I have often wondered what would happen to a farmer if he, carrying a loaded gun, were to tramp through the factories, the stores, the estates of some of the city sportsmen in the manner in which they roam over his farm."—Editorial in Ohio Grange Monthly.

* * *

FARMERS must be among the most generous people in the world. Certainly they do little to prevent competition. On the other hand, everything is done to encourage young people or anyone else, to learn agriculture. The sentiment for support prices indicates no desire to squeeze out inefficient farmers . . . any price floor high enough to be politically popular will be high enough that less able farmers can get by, while the highly efficient ones make liberal profits . . . an ideal price floor, I believe, ought to be low enough that unwanted production would not be encouraged, and high enough to prevent low price dives . . ."—Wheeler McMillen, in Farm Journal.

* * *

"GIVE the Cattleman a fair deal" shouts a headline in Farm Journal, October. "The Forest Service, of U. S. government, flaunting the sacred banner of 'Conservation' is driving livestock off the rich grazing lands of the West at the time that we need meat most . . . if you're a Corn Belt feeder this means fewer higher-priced steers and lambs; if you're a consumer it means you're paying more for meat than necessary; if it can happen in the West, it can happen anywhere."

So the battle goes on! The Forest Service claims of overgrazing of the headwaters of streams, causing erosion and floods versus the cattlemen's howl at being barred from use of public lands. It is fair, of course, to present both sides of any public question, and let the people choose according to their own understanding.

AS A happier note in the case against strip mining, it is pleasing to record that a picture-story on the first page of Cleveland Plain Dealer recently told how an Ohio farmer sold the coal underneath his farm to a strip mining company, with the provision that they return the upper six inches of topsoil to the re-leveled land when the coal was mined. They did so. He still has his farm, and has raised two crops satisfactorily.

They pared off the topsoil, piled it in heaps, and replaced it after the coal was removed. He is inclined to think that his farm is all the better for the transaction and that the stirring of the subsoil will make the stripped parts yield bigger crops.

BRANNAN-STINE NUPTIALS SOLEMNIZED IN SOMERSET

Charles W. Stine, West First Street, Wed to Marie Brannan, of Lowell, Ohio

THE Holy Trinity church, Somerset, Ohio, was the scene of the wedding of Miss Marie Brannan and Charles W. Stine this morning at 9 o'clock. The nuptials were exchanged before an altar decorated with gladioli, ferns and four seven branch candelabra. Father R. M. McCaffrey, O. P., officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Miss Brannan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brannan, Lowell, Ohio, and Mr. Stine, 151 West First street, is the son of Mrs. Alma Stine, Somerset.

Mrs. Lena Clouse presided at the organ for the program of nuptial music and Miss Mary Ann Litzinger was the soloist.

The bride wore a white satin gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and leg-o-mutton sleeves. The three-quarter length veil was held in place with a tiara of pearls and rhinestones. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses, tied with white streamers.

Miss Alma Tobin, of Marietta, friend of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a blue gown with a wreath of flowers in her hair and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Jackie Ann Hillyard, cousin of the groom, was the flower girl. She wore a pink gown and carried a basket of mums.

Mrs. Brannan wore a brown suit with green accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Stine chose a brown suit with gold accessories for the ceremony. Both mothers wore a corsage of white roses.

James Miller, friend of the groom, served as best man.

Paul Kellam and Don Miller, both friends of the groom, escorted the guests to their pews.

PRAISES RENNEL — PORTSMOUTH LADY LOSES 57 POUNDS

"I can truthfully say Rennel is wonderful," writes Phyona Marlowe, 823 Broadway, Portsmouth, Ohio. "I am 48 years of age, and since using Rennel I have lost 57 pounds. My dress size has changed from 52 to 22. All my friends tell me how wonderful I look in my new clothes and how it has improved my appearance. Many, many thanks to Rennel."

Hundreds of others have obtained similar relief from the social and physical discomfort of being overweight. Why not try this effective yet inexpensive method of reducing and enjoy the pleasures of feeling younger and more active as your figure becomes younger and your vitality increases. Just go to your druggist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Rennel. Pour the contents into a pint bottle, add enough unsweetened grapefruit juice to fill the bottle and then take two tablespoonfuls daily. That's all there is to it. If you aren't absolutely satisfied after losing the first few pounds, return the empty bottle to the manufacturer and your money will be refunded. You need never know a hungry moment while taking Rennel as directed. No starvation diet, no painful diet list to buy, no drugs to fortify you against weakness while going hungry, for your Wells Drug Store has the genuine Rennel product. Insist on Rennel and refuse substitutes.

Glamor at Home Can Be Yours

Now is the time to consider your clothes budget. Those expensive new dresses will last longer and look better if you protect them with some of the gay new aprons and smocks available today. Some are so smartly styled that they actually add to the effectiveness of an at-home outfit. For a few dollars you can have three all-round changes in cover-up garments—a utility apron for the kitchen, a frilly one for bridge or cocktail parties, and a smock-coat for going to the market, studying or lounging around the house.

Pictured here are new designs by Frances Peck.

THRIFTY LOUNGE ATTIRE . . . Smock coat for student or housewife in a smart rayon print, budget-priced.

KITCHEN SWANK . . . New look in a Guatemalan print.

Music Study Club Opens Season With Dinner, Program Tuesday

ONE of Mansfield's most active organizations, the Music Study club, opened their 1948-49 season last evening with a dinner and musical program at the Westbrook Country club. Eighty members and guests were in attendance throughout the evening.

Harold McCuen, president of the club, presided as chairman for the meeting. Preceding the program he introduced the new members, Miss Doris Ranck, Mrs. Marion Byers, Miss Mercedes Blue, Don Fatkin, George Ireland and Mrs. D. A. Spayde. New patron members include Miss Nita Branson, Mrs. Ray Morgan, Mrs. Pauline Myers and Father Charnotta, M. S. C., of Shelby, who was the guest speaker for the evening.

New officers, Miss Myrtle Booth, vice president; Miss Vera Smythe, recording secretary; Mrs. Edward Delp, corresponding secretary; Lester Young, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Donnan, librarian, and Mrs. Homer V. Miller, historian, were also introduced. Mrs. Paul Cropper, program chairman, gave a brief resume of the year's meetings.

Among the honored guests in attendance were Mrs. D. A. Spayde, president of the north central district of the Ohio Federation, of which Mansfield is a part, and Mrs. James Wood of Marion, an honorary member.

The meeting was opened with invocation given by Rev. Olan W. Laughbaugh, assistant pastor of the First Lutheran church. During the dinner music was furnished by a string ensemble, composed of Mrs. Hans Plaut, Mrs. Scott Brown, Mrs. Joseph Pival and Mrs. Thomas Zaugg.

Guests were seated at small tables, which were centered with arrangements of fall flowers and leaves. The speaker's table was unusual with three bugles, one placed in the center and one at each end, from which colorful streamers were extended to the table to meet arrangements of colorful grapes. Hostesses were Mrs. George J. Searle and Miss Myrtle Booth.

Following the dinner the group adjourned to the drawing room where a musical program was given by Miss Beverly Wentz, seprano, and Mrs. Clarence Platt, pianist. Miss Wentz opened her program with "Ave Maria" by Bach-Gounod, "Open Thy Heart," by Bizet, and "Romanza," from "Cavalleria Rusticana," by Mascagni, accompanied by Mrs. Platt.

Mrs. Platt then favored with "Prelude No. 1" and "Prelude No. 16," by Chopin, and "Prelude" (The Girl With the Flaxen Hair) and "Prelude from Piano Suite," by Debussy.

Miss Wentz closed her numbers with "Tell Me, Oh Blue, Blue Sky," by Giannini; "Silent Strings," by Bantock and "A Dream," by Grieg.

Father Charnotta of the Sacred Heart seminary, near Shelby, used as his subject, "Gregorian Chant As Worship Music." He defined Gregorian chant as "traditional free rhythmed, unisonous, diatonic music, adopted by the church for solemn celebration of her liturgy."

Father Charnotta, an authority on Gregorian music, gave a charming program, using beautiful similies in his illustrated talk. He presented the structural elements of chant and played several recordings of various types of chants.

"Music is the language of love," said the speaker, "and the text of music or chant is prayer."

Taken from an address Father Charnotta made in Detroit this year to the Catholic Music Educators, he said, "Music receives its consecration and fulfills its true purpose when it stands in relation to God and serves as handmaid of religion and worship."

The next meeting of the club will be held Nov. 1 at 7:45 p. m. at the First Methodist church. There will be a guest speaker on "Musical Therapy." Mrs. C. W. Ness will be the hostess.

Fortnight Club Begins Season

Fortnight club members opened their new season Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Bennett, 29 Glenwood boulevard. Sixteen members and two guests Mrs. Earl Paxton and Mrs. Roger Gray, were in attendance.

Miss Kathleen Mendenhall furnished the program, reviewing the book, "Fisherman of Iceland" by Pierre Loti. She also showed colored postcards and caps and collars, worn by the women in Brittany, France, where she visited during a recent vacation.

The next meeting of the club will take place Oct. 19 at the Women's club with Miss Louise Lynch as hostess.

TEA THURSDAY

The Women's Association of the First Congregational church will hold a tea Thursday at 2 p. m. at the parish house.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, October 7

A most welcome change, practically a complete about-face from recent harrowing and sinister events may be suddenly precipitated. A very desirable and welcome situation is likely to affect the romantic and emotional life, with a glamorous and revolutionary thrill. While intimate affiliations are mainly dramatized, yet all matters in which ingenuity, skill and creative abilities of outstanding scope and inspiration, are more than likely to grow in the limelight. The hearty endorsement and cooperation from those in influential places is seen.

Those whose birthday it is, may be suddenly "taken by surprise" in a most heart-warming and dramatic manner, in which not only the "love life" but the aims, aspirations and especially the creative abilities, are up for applause and possibly public recognition. There are elements of the unexpected, spectacular and unique, in which talents, affiliations and experience may prove dramatic or dynamic. The emotional drive may be toward the creative and inventive, with much promise of exceptional adventures and change. Make every effort to develop and publicize exceptional skills, ideas and ideals.

A child born on this day should be bounteously endowed with outstanding talents, skills, ingenuity and aspirations. This, supplemented by a romantic and magnetic personality, should beget an adventurous career.

Real Berlin Deadlock Is Revealed

Neither Side Will Make First Move

The latest Soviet note, which was published as a prelude to the meeting of the security council, asks for a meeting of the foreign ministers and "proposes that the directive to the commanders-in-chief agreed on Aug. 30 should be recognized as an agreement between the governments . . . on the basis of which the situation in Berlin should be settled."

It is important to remember that the "directive of Aug. 30," as worked out in Moscow by the three ambassadors and M. Molotov, was not "an agreement between the governments." It was understood, as the United States white paper shows, that the "directive" was to become an "agreement" only if the four military commanders in Berlin could agree within a week, by Sept. 7, on its "practical implementation." Had they been able to report agreement in Berlin, the discussions were to have been resumed in Moscow for the purpose of formulating "the ultimate draft communique." The military commanders disagreed and no final communique was negotiated in Moscow.

The latest Soviet proposal would appear to be that the four foreign ministers should take over the negotiations as of Aug. 30, that is to say at the point where they were turned over to the four military commanders.

The Soviets are proposing that the four foreign ministers should attempt, on the basis of the tentative agreement of Aug. 30, to reach that final agreement which the three ambassadors and M. Molotov never got to because the military commanders in Berlin did not agree.

IF MINISTERS MET . . .

This is, at least technically, a strong position to take as the dispute goes before the United Nations. For Article 33 requires the nations "first of all to seek a solution by negotiation," and it would not be easy for us to argue that one week of discussion by four military commanders in Berlin exhausts the possibilities of negotiation. The new Soviet proposal to take the matter away from Sokolovsky, Clay, and Robertson in Berlin, and from the ambassadors in Moscow, and to deal with it at the higher level of the foreign ministers, is one which is likely to find much support in the United Nations.

The real question is what would happen if the council of foreign ministers met. We know pretty well by this time what the sticking point is: It is whether in return for a lifting of the blockade the western powers will make a commitment to reconsider the London agreements and to postpone the establishment of the Frankfurt government.

Enough is now known about what actually happened in the Moscow discussions to warrant the conclusion that they broke down because Moscow would not agree to definite measures to lift the blockade until it had a firm public commitment from Washington to reconsider the Frankfurt government—and that Washington would not make this firm public commitment until the Soviets agreed to definite measures to lift the blockade.

Bean Loan Rates Set

What the government will pay farmers, on loans and purchases, for soybeans was announced today by the Richland county office of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Farm-stored soybeans, to be eligible for a loan, must have been stored in the granary or the bin at least 30 days prior to inspection by the county committee.

Class one and two, containing 14 per cent moisture will be $2.18 per bushel. The basic rate of class three, four and five will be $1.98 per bushel.

Loans and purchase agreements will be available through Dec. 31, 1948, but notes and chattel mortgages, note and loan agreements and purchase agreements must be signed by the producer prior to Jan. 1, 1949. Loans will mature on demand not later than April 30, 1949.

Further information can be obtained at the Richland county Triple-A office, 51 North Diamond street.

Taft Proposes Pensions For Ex-Presidents

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R.-Ohio) today proposed "substantial pensions"—perhaps as high as $25,000 a year—for ex-presidents.

He indicated that he believes Mr. Truman will become an ex-president after the Jan. 20 inauguration day and that, as such, he ought to have a pension.

Taft made his pension proposal at a news conference. He also said he favored admitting ex-presidents to the senate floor with power to speak but not to vote.

The senator said an ex-president ought to have income enough to permit him to take a low-paying but "dignified" job — a college presidency, for example.

He said there has been "a good deal of objection" in the past because some ex-presidents took business jobs "to capitalize on their name."

The largest county in Oklahoma is Osage. Pawhuska is the county seat and a huge quarterly Indian payroll of headrights is received

County Corn Crop Good, Says Agent

Richland county's corn crop was described as "good" today by County Agent C. N. McGrew. He said the crop would be bigger than last year, and that it was a little better than average crop.

Principal corn harvesting has not gotten started to any great extent, he said, since most farmers use corn pickers.

McGrew said that a lot of corn was being put in shocks. This dries out the corn.

WE SAY TO YOU

WHAT IS A BARGAIN?

REMEMBER THIS -- IT TAKES MORE THAN PRICE TO MAKE A VALUE

In these days when we read so much of bargains—bargains—sales—sales, it is well to consider carefully what comprises "value"—We believe a bargain to be an unusual offering caused by an unusual event or condition that actually forces a reduction in price—but not a reduction in "Quality." On such an occasion one can buy quality at a sacrifice.

This is an occasion where we have lost our lease and the landlord demands the building, which means we are temporarily out of business until we can find a suitable location, which requires drastic measures in order to dispose of the stock, with the result everything must be sold out to the bare walls in the shortest time possible.

This sale comprises a collection of some of the finest manufacturers of the country.

For over 47 years the W. E. Jones Piano and Furniture House has stood before the public, an institution built upon confidence, strict integrity and fair dealing, stating the truth in its advertisements and truthfully representing the merchandise offered for sale. Always a leader in establishing the tenets of high and scrupulous frankness in business and unrelentingly maintaining its leadership all these years.

However, we find it necessary, compulsory if you please, to dispose of thousands of dollars worth of high grade merchandise in the shortest time possible at liquidation prices before we can turn the building over to the landlord.

Mrs. Kasenkina's Story—No. 11

War With Finland Brings On Doubts

By OKSANA S. KASENKINA

During the four years I taught at Tuchkovo, in the Muscovy countryside, from the fall of 1937 to that of 1941, I managed to keep the fact that my husband had been purged a deep secret. For my boy Oleg, the change was a blessing. He found a mentor in the teacher of Russian literature, a pre-revolutionary educator, who stimulated his interest in the classics.

My first task was to start a garden, as the food problem continually beset the institution. In this region the soil is rocky, but we did raise vegetables and were especially successful with potatoes. But our difficulties lay in getting bread, meat, sugar, kerosene and other necessities for which we had to forage in the villages and towns.

Sometimes we teachers had to go to Moscow to shop in the open markets for these provisions, and on occasion the NKVD would raid the train and confiscate the food and kerosene as illegal goods. One was lucky to escape arrest as a "speculator."

I was encouraged to try poultry farming, all as part of our school experiments in agriculture, but soon discovered why my predecessor Ivanov had failed in this endeavor. Our region was thick with foxes, and hawks were common. Instead of multiplying, the chickens melted away.

I was more successful with bees. What with the scarcity of sugar, it became quite a fashionable feature of the five-year plan to cultivate honey. I once overheard one high Soviet functionary ask another: "And what is your wife doing?" The reply was: "She's taking courses in apiculture."

BEGINNING OF WAR

I studied the literature on beekeeping, and succeeded in constructing a whole palace of a hive. Our honey became the talk of the countryside. I stored enough honey as food for the bees in the winter to save them in the rigorous climate, but our communist director, Kukhmazov, regarded this as a luxury for the bees. He removed the food, all the bees then died, and that ended my experiment.

The summer of 1939 was upon us. The Stalin-Hitler pact, which apparently stirred the world deeply, made little impression on the common people. To us non-communists the world war was brought home only with the outbreak of Russo-Finnish hostilities. The Soviet government's joining Hitler in the partition of Poland was received with apathy by the population.

It was different when we went to war with little Finland. Many of our peasants' sons were called to the colors. Our own director Kukhmazov went off to the front. He bragged, as so many communists did: "Shapkami zakidayem — we'll snow them under with our hats."

But the ordinary folks just could not understand why the great Soviet power had to pick a fight with tiny Finland. And when the boys began to come back with frozen legs and arms, there were murmurings in the villages. "What are we fighting for? Why must our sons perish?"

SOME PERISH

When the director returned to his duties, he punctuated his bragging of the victory over Finland with this story: "We gave it to those accursed Finns. When the armistice was already signed, our command decided not to cart anshells back, so we opened up with all the guns and let them have it."

Many of the boys did not return. One of them was a favorite pupil of mine, Igor Gummell, a blue-eyed, slim youth, whose father, a widowed teacher in Moscow, had placed him with a distant relative in a village near our school. An ardent idealist, a prodigious reader, Igor joined the Komsomol and held forth at meetings, often criticizing the abuse by the new bureaucrats of our workers.

The communist officials and their sons in the Komsomol did not like his zeal. Although without any military training, he was sent off to the Finnish front. I received but one letter from him, full of the horrors he experienced. Then came word of his death.

My own son Oleg, who was eighteen, was called to register for military service. Although he had become chummy with Igor, I was happy that he stayed out of politics. Mathematics was his interest, music and art his hobbies. A handsome and well-built lad, Oleg was popular with the girls and sought their company. He would come home with a whole bevy of them and help them with their homework.

Oleg graduated from our school and was admitted to the University of Moscow about the time Hitler launched his blitz against Russia on June 22, 1941. Before the papers or the radio announced the news, we learned that we were at war when the German planes flew overhead in their first air raid on the capital.

GERMANS MOVE IN

In those summer days in Muscovy, the front was so remote, somewhere in faraway Poland, that none of us dreamt of its coming close to us. Our life had always been harrowing and full of terrors, and we now simply scanned the skies for one more terror.

Those of us who remembered the first World war expected the nazis, like the Kaiser's armies, to get stuck in the distant Pripet Marshes.

Within three months the unbelievable came to pass. The German avalanche of steel had moved all the way from the banks of the Vistula to the heart of Russia. Our school and villages had been denuded of all able-bodied men. As the German invaders drew nearer and nearer and the communist authorities began to flee eastward, I went to Bielov, the chairman of the local Soviet, and asked him for facilities to evacuate our valuable library and museum. In a burst of temper, he flung at me:

"Don't bother me. It's up to Moscow!"

It was the middle of October. All the roads to Moscow were clogged with an armed flood in retreat before the advancing nazis. The common people, who had suppressed their hatred for the communist oppressors all those long years, could not be persuaded to leave their homes and farms.

Many of them believed the leaflets in Russian dropped from the air proclaiming that the Germans were coming as liberators. Then word spread that the neighboring town of Mozhaisk was in flames, and that the enemy was about to take it.

My Oleg arrived from Moscow to bid me goodbye. He had just received his orders to report for military service.

Hides $8,500 In Paper Bag

ANTIOCH, Calif.—(AP)—For a week, 15-year-old Vernon Beard carefully guarded a paper bag, letting no one see its contents. Then police got a look, took the $8,500 it contained and jailed Vernon.

Chief of Police Harry Boyer said the cash was loot from a burglary, and that the boy admitted he didn't know quite what to do with it. He spent a little for candy and milk shakes and was wondering if he should take a trip.

The money was stolen Sept. 27 from the home of Jack Wolfe, Antioch merchant. Ever since, said Boyer, Vernon has been carrying it in the paper bag, or hiding it here and there, to return and pick it up again.

Two Billion Dollars Spent In 1st Year of Aid Program

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The economic cooperation administration started the second half of its first year's recovery operations today with more than $2,000,000,000 already spent.

The recovery organization has $5,330,000,000 to spur economic stability in Europe and China in this first year of operations.

But of this sum approximately $1,000,000,000 must be in the form of loans not grants. The loan program is lagging. The only loan negotiated to date has been $2,300,000 for Iceland to help its fisheries industry.

As of Oct. 1 the ECA had authorized $2,012,055,851 for European and Chinese recovery.

The two biggest slices of the total figure have gone to France and the United Kingdom, France's total as of Oct. 1 was $473,489,115; the United Kingdom's $447,944,700. Next was Italy, with $257,860,093.

ECA said that the countries who benefitted by the authorizations through Sept. 29 would get such commodities and raw materials as metals, machinery, chemicals, wool, cotton and foodstuffs.

BONUS PAYMENTS SOAR

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The state bonus commission announced today that by Friday, Ohio war veterans will be richer by $175,994,700. Asks Return Of Religious Pioneer Zeal

World Mission Assembly Opens

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Permanent world peace would not be so far away if present-day Christians had the religious zeal of their forebears, a Philippine layman told the world mission assembly today.

Mateo F. Occena, purchasing agent in the United States for the Philippine republic, asked 3,000 delegates to "recapture the vitality of the faith of the Pilgrim fathers and start the machinery for a world peace offensive."

He was one of 16 speakers on the opening-day program. The three-day assembly, largest gathering of Protestants in 23 years, marks the first time Protestant churches have launched a joint appeal for church and public support of foreign missions.

"If we had the zeal which, out of loyalty to our faith, would impel us to choose facing hungry lions in an arena, being burned at the stake, or crossing an uncharted ocean to start life in an unknown continent—if we had that kind of zeal, we would have performed miracles," Occena said in a prepared address. "For let no one tell us that within the Christian fold . . . there is not enough intelligence, talent, skill, executive ability and funds for such a worthwhile project as permanent world peace."

Occena said Christians "stand convicted of inadequacy, if not gross negligence," when a "handful of fanatics" can start two world wars.

"The situation is desperate," he went on, "and something concrete should be done immediately. It would indeed be a pity if we should be found wanting here in Columbus when we are asked much less than facing hungry lions and being burned at the stake."

Occena and most other speakers this morning and afternoon were from other countries. They gave a detailed account of the religious, social, economic and political trends in their lands. All called for an expansion of overseas missionary work.

U. S. Weighs Retaliation

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States is studying the idea of giving Soviet officials in this country a taste of the same treatment Americans get from Moscow.

Diplomatic authorities disclosed today that retaliatory measures are under consideration as result of the new Soviet order sharply limiting the movements of American and other foreign diplomats in Russia.

The net effect of that order, the state department says, is to bar travel outside the Moscow city limits. Russians in the United States, meanwhile, are free to travel anywhere, with no questions asked.

ADOPTS ZONING CODE

WILLOUGHBY —(AP)— In the first move in Ohio, Willoughby township has decided to adopt rural zoning codes setting a minimum size on lots and houses. Opponents of the 1946 state law authorizing the codes if approved locally still hope Lake county common pleas court will ban the measure later this week. The vote was 484 to 441.

Drugs Being Used to Poison Cancer Cells, Director Reports

By PAUL F. ELLIS

NEW YORK — (AP) — A new front has been opened in the battle against cancer—the use of drugs to poison certain types of cancer cells.

However the battle has just begun according to Dr. C. P. Rhoads, director of Memorial hospital for cancer and allied diseases.

He reported, to the 21st Graduate Fortnight of the New York Academy of Medicine, that medical science is profiting by mistakes in running toward the wrong goal line, and that the "definite goal is now both apparent and real."

Dr. Rhoads, professor of pathology of Cornell university medical college, described the use of the drug teropterin, a vitamin derivative of folic acid, "as a bold, triumphant rush toward what looked like a touchdown, but which turned out to be over the wrong goal line."

One of teropterin's failures came in the case of Babe Ruth, but Rhoads did not mention Ruth, who died in Memorial hospital.

He reviewed the history of the drug and of the "false hopes" it raised, and said that "notwithstanding past failures, mistakes and confusion, progress in cancer theraphy now is being made."

"It is as yet an enormously ill-defined and vague," he said. "Yet its tendency to take form and to move toward a definite goal is now both apparent and real."

The drug, the nitrogen mustards and other chemical compounds to some extent have interfered with the function of the cancer cell.

"Substances," he said, "are at hand which poison certain neoplastic (cancerous) cells, even though this effect be a weak one."

The studies show that "no millennium in cancer theraphy has been attained, nor is any generally useful agent yet at hand," he said.

"It is equally apparent, however, that a most important field for investigation has been open to study," he said.

Frankfurter's Invisible Empire Difficult to Classify Exactly

WASHINGTON — In our study of Felix Frankfurter's invisible government, we must not try to accommodate a suspicion that this was a communist plot. There were and are communists in the group of Harvard lawyers who formed Frankfurter's team, but Frankfurter himself seems not to be one. A person who is pro-Russian or hypersensitive to Bolshevik opinion, as Frankfurter certainly was at the time of the 1917 revolutions and massacres, is not necessarily a communist.

Frankfurter's team fiercely rejects "guilt by association.' But such argumentarians damned Charles Lindbergh because, in his opposition to the implication of the United States in war, he found himself in company of the Nazi-Americans, who had other reasons for their opposition.

Frankfurter is an old friend of Prof. Harold J. Laski, of the London school of economics, who was with him for years at Harvard. This was not an ordinary friendship.

An essay in the Catholic Worker in June, 1944, tells of a Laski lecture at Ford hall, Boston, in 1937, and says: "Laski was introduced by Felix Frankfurter, who made an observation that seemed very significant. He declared that the day that he looked forward to in the year with the most joy was the day when Mr. Laski came to stay with him at his home. When you understand that Mr. Frankfurter has the reputation for being the adviser to certain persons in Washington you can well have understood our added interest in listening to this adviser to the adviser. Ford hall forums were then being managed by David K. Niles."

Niles ,born Nayhus (this is the correct spelling from his birth record) of Russian parents, moved into the White House with Roosevelt as Frankfurter's man at the throne and remained there with Harry S. Truman.

Laski sued an English paper which said he had countenanced violent political revolution, and lost his case. That put him in his place. When he brought out a book called "Faith, Reason and Civilization" in 1944, the New York Times had no compunction about using above its review the title "Laski's Brief for Communism." The opening sentence of the review, written by Henry Hazlitt, read, "Of all the apologists for communism writing in English, Harold Laski is the most brilliant and the most plausible."

There you have the association. Whether it establishes "guilt" you may decide for yourself.

When Franklin D. Roosevelt nominated Frankfurter for the supreme court in 1939, Felix brought Dean G. Acheson to the hearings of the Senate judiciary committee as his counsel. He was the first nominee for this court who ever showed up with a mouthpiece. It was almost as though he considered himself to be a defendant. Acheson later became under-secretary of state and a supporter of Alger Hiss, also a Frankfurter plant in the state department, who went to Yalta with the enfeebled F.D.R.

★

Harold Ickes wrote that Roosevelt told him Felix had been lobbying him for a job on the court. If there is any precedent for such vulgar pushfulness it has been kept confidential. Roosevelt was vexed about this pressure and Tommy Corcoran—"Tommy the Cork" as Roosevelt called him in his sissified humor—was desperate. Corcoran knew that if he put in his licks for Felix, Roosevelt would really nix the proposition. So he beat it out to old George Norris, a monumental ego something like Professor Einstein, who had read that he was "the grand old man of liberalism" and believed it absolutely. Corcoran told Norris that moosejaw was going to pass over Felix and that this would be a tragic betrayal of liberalism. So the old faker heaved himself down to the madhouse and put the guru across . Roosevelt was afflicted with short-term infatuations with phonies and he was in the throes of a crush on Norris just then.

No. 1 Band Fan (Kaye Chapter) Keeps Careful Record of Tunes

NEW YORK — (AP) — There is no hobby too odd for a man seeking to find an individual niche in history.

I heard of a man who spent all his spare time standing on a rail embankment. As the trains sped past he noted down the number of each freight car and the railroad that owned it.

In time he accumulated a longer list of freight car numbers than anyone that'd ever lived. To him this was enough reward—to have done something no one else ever had.

The other day another young man of this stern breed dropped in to tell me about his unusual claim to fame.

He was Jack R. Williams, 22, a tall, freckled, sandy-haired former U. S. sailor who believes he is the nation's number one jazz band fan, Sammy Kaye branch.

"I have listened to more than a thousand broadcasts by Sammy Kaye, and each time I wrote down every tune he played," he said proudly.

To still any doubts I might have that he was really only a New York Philharmonic symphony orchestra fan playing a belated April fool joke, Williams produced the evidence. There they were—hundreds of pages scribbled with the names of melodies. And he had carefully written down where he heard them—in so-and-so's parking lot, in his car while out driving, aboard the U. S. Destroyer Marsh in the Pacific.

"I am convinced," I said, convinced. "Tell me, Jack, how did it all begin?"

"Well," said Jack, who is a baggage clerk in the Greyhound bus station in Columbus, O. "It is a long story—it goes clear back to Dec. 21, 1941.

"I was home in bed with the flu. I turned on the radio and heard them announce Sammy Kaye's Sunday serenade. I didn't have anything else to do, so I just copied down the songs.

"I got interested. I liked the music, and it was fun writing down the tunes—so I just kept it up."

Since then he has missed few broadcasts. Several times he has journeyed hundreds of miles—he gets a free bus pass—to hear and meet Sammy Kaye in person.

"He let me lead the band once," Jack said softly, and in the busy room I could hear the muted trumpets that would sound in his ears forever. "Everybody in the band likes me."

I asked if his hobby hadn't interfered with his social life.

"My friends at first thought I was crazy because I'd rather stay home and write down names of tunes on Sunday instead of going on picnics," Jack said. "But since I got to know Sammy personally—well, that's a horse of a different color. They come over to watch me now."

When he is mowing the lawn, his mother now posts a warning note in the window saying: "Don't forget—broadcast at 7 p. m." He still remembers with horror the time he was driving down town and his car radio went dead just before a broadcast.

★

"I almost went into hysterics," Jack said. "I ran into the bus station, grabbed up pencil and paper and turned on the radio—just as the theme song started. Boy, I just almost melted."

Jack doesn't play a note himself.

"This is my main hobby," he said gravely. "and I want to keep on doing it as long—as long as there is a Sammy Kaye."

Wouldn't he like sometime just to listen to the broadcast without writing down the tunes?

"No," said Jack, "somehow it wouldn't be the same."

A man with a real hobby can't just sit there. He has to do something about it.

Council Puts OK On Budget

Request Slashed By 27 Per Cent

City council approved without comment last night the 1949 Mansfield budget as revised by the county budget commission.

The budget commission reduced the city's requests of $761,096 for operating funds for departments drawing money from the general fund by 27 per cent, or $206,441. That action was taken because tax receipts for general fund purposes in 1949 are estimated at $554,655.

The budget commission is required to pare the city requests so that they match estimated receipts. Year ago, when taxes were not governed by the 10-mill limit, the budget commission could raise the tax rate if it felt the city had made a justifiable request for increased income.

FUNDS LIMITED

Today, with the 10-mill limit exceeded, any additional increases in the tax rate must be approved by the voters. Therefore, in effect, the city asks for the maximum and usually a little more, and the budget commission reduces it to meet expected receipts.

Council's headache will begin in January when it draws up the appropriation bill. The legislators must reduce the allotment of funds to the various departments by approximately $240,000.

Council also approved the budget commission's report of estimated receipts of $22,291 for both the fire and police pension funds and $14,861 for the recreation fund.

Miss Courtney was born in Washington township and lived her entire life in this community. She was employed for 28 years as assistant to the secretary of the Mechanics Building and Loan company, retiring because of ill health.

Miss Courtney was a member of the First United Presbyterian church and active in its various branches of work.

Friends may call at the late home until noon Friday.

4 Named To Committees

Four members of city council were re-appointed to the police and fire pension boards last night as council sped through the shortest regular session of 1948.

Councilmen George Kyle and Nelson Swihart were re-appointed to the fire pension board and Councilmen Harry Bowman and Thomas Wright to the police pension board.

Council, acting on only five pieces of legislation, authorized the service-safety director to renew a contract with the federal government for the use of the Mansfield Municipal airport for Air Reserve training and for picking up freight shipments from the Shelby air depot.

The other items approved were transfers of money from one fund to another.

C. of C. Members Celebrate Victory

A good meal, after dinner cigars and lots of relaxation was the lot of 75 Chamber of Commerce membership drive workers last night as they celebrated the largest membership in the history of the chamber—1,226 members.

The annual victory dinner, held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, honored those hard-working fellows who had button-holed the most members during the drive. For them, the fruits of labor included everything from tie clasps to auto tires and orchids.

Awarded to the teams on basis of points, the donated prizes went to L. B. Hamilton and C. N. Schultz who received electric blankets; Clyde A. Kessel and Earl Muth, two white-walled tires apiece; Harry W. Dailey and L. E. Schmid, electric toasters.

Dean W. Dickerson and Richard Wolford, wool blankets; George C. Kyle and Evan L. Horn, coffeemakers; Robert W. Boals and W. L. Burkhard jr.; sandwich grills; E. E. Stevens and Nick White, two auto tires each; Saul Doppelt and Lester Zavelson, one year's free automobile lubrication.

DONATE TIE CLASPS

Tie clasps, donated by local business men, were awarded to three teams of two men each, for exceeding their quotas.

Officiating at the ceremonies was Harry B. Soulen, president of the Chamber, who introduced past presidents of the Chamber.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn offered his congratulations to the organization, declaring that Mansfield's Chamber was the first in the U. S. according to its population size. Orlo L. Smith, membership chairman, said the 1948 membership exceeds last year's by six members.

Training Session

A training assembly of the organized reserve corps for officers and enlisted men will be held in the McVey Post, American Legion home Thursday. All former members of the armed forces are invited to the assembly which begins at 7:30 p. m.

Meet Today On Report

Richland county commissioners met today with officials of the state welfare department to go over an 80-page report of a comprehensive study of child welfare needs in the county.

The study was made by state officials at the request of the county and took more than two months.

Meeting with the commissioners were Henry J. Robison, chief of the division of social administration, John R. Ferguson, head of children's services of the department, and two welfare workers who made the study, Mrs. Virginia Ferguson, assistant supervisor of field services, and Mrs. Mary Jane Paumier, child welfare consultant.

During the afternoon, the commissioners were to meet with the Richland county child welfare board to go over the report.

Commissioners said the question of releasing the report would have to be determined by the board of commissioners and the child welfare board. John W. Selby, chairman of the board, said the report was not released before today's meetings because the commissioners wanted time to "digest" the 80-page report.

183 More Get Tagged

One hundred and 83 more traffic tickets were issued to parking law violators last month than in August, the police department's monthly report showed today.

In September, 1,024 tickets, bringing in an income of $1,185, were issued, as compared with 851 issued in August with a total income of $1,063.

The rise in the number of tickets was due, in part, to the return to the traffic patrol of several members who were on vacations at different times during the month.

The police investigated 115 traffic accidents in September, 14 involving injuries and one fatality. John C. Theiding, 41, died September 26 of injuries received the previous night when his car was hit by a Pennsylvania train at the East Fifth street crossing.

The police last month arrested 38 persons for traffic law violations. Fines and costs totaling $783 were assessed by the court.

One hundred and 56 arrests were made last month as compared with 179 in August. Of the 156 arrests, 126 were on charges of intoxication.

The Mansfield contributors are Mary Jane Drago, Johnny Appleseed pupil; David Bryner of the Hedges street school and Kenneth Ackerman, primary pupil at Woodland. Mary Jane has a whimsical verse about "Wing Dreams," David tells about a trip down a river in a little russet boat and the things he sees, and Kenny's rhyme is about "Going Away." The Mansfield Poetry Guild has cooperated with the Ohio Poetry Day association in the publication.

DISTANT DONOR—

Cash gifts toward the building of the new First Congregational church are coming in from as far away as Waterbury, Conn. Rev. Matthew W. Madden, who has a Catholic friend in the east, said today he had a letter and a check for $100 from the friend, who said, "I feel that a few Catholic bricks in your structure will do it no harm." Other cash contributions include one of $500 from a Mansfield non-member, who gave that amount because he believes a church in the Marion avenue-Millsboro road area would be a nice thing. Another of $800 came from a Mansfield friend who wanted that amount spent on one of the church windows. It will all be included in the goal of $250,000 for which church members are campaigning this week.

OHIO FORECAST: Partly cloudy and somewhat warmer this afternoon; fair tonight, not so cool in southwest portion. Thursday increasing cloudiness and somewhat warmer.

Rev. E. W. Welch Installed as East Mansfield Church Pastor

Isaiah's vision of God is needed in the world today, Rev. Walter Young, moderator of the commission of the Presbytery of the United Presbyterian church, said last night as he helped to install Rev. Edward W. Welch as pastor of the East Mansfield United Presbyterian church.

"That vision is needed in the economic, social, industrial as well as the religious world today," Rev. Young said. "The solution of the world's ills lies in that vision for it is as the world sees God, that it also sees its ills and will come to God for the solution of the present problem."

The installation was held during the meeting of the Mansfield Presbytery in the First United Presbyterian church yesterday. Rev. Young was appointed as moderator of the commission to have charge of the installation services, held in the East Mansfield church.

Others assisting in the services were Dr. Frank Wilson, an elder of the First UP church who read the Scripture and gave a prayer; Rev. Charles L. Shook, pastor of the First church, who gave the charge to Rev. Welch; Rev. C. O. Armstrong of Canton who gave the charge to the congregation and Dr. R. S. Mansfield of New Concord, Ohio Synodical superintendent of missions, who gave the installation prayer.

The new pastor, Rev. Welch, presented the benediction and closing prayer.
